RUSSIANS SAY GERMANS HALTED AT DON

WAR MAY HALT COUNTY ROAD REPAIR WORK

Resurfacing of 33 Miles of Roadway, Already Begun, May Be Stopped.

Possibility that the summer road conditioning program now under way in Marion county may be halted was faced today by County Engineer Walter W. Johnson upon receipt of communications from the offices of petroleum coordinator for war and State Highway Director H. G. Sours.

The gist of the notice from the OPCW, dated July 2 and received today is to the effect that all resurfacing applications of asphaltic and asphaltic products, tar, and tar products must be applied by July 22 and that no orders for resurfacing materials will be recognized after July 13.

Thirty-three miles of Marion county roads are affected, Mr. Johnson said this morning. The summer program reaches into every township in the county.

The contract for the work was let on May 28 to the U. S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky and 42 tank cars of asphalt and tar were ordered from Cleveland.

Some Work Done

Ten of the cars have arrived and all work of "priming" the roads with coal tar has been completed.

Unless the 32 cars of tar-topping arrive within a short time the road work can not be finished before July 22, Mr. Johnson said this morning after studying the communications from Washington and Columbus.

However, the communication from Washington inclosed an application to the public roads administration, which Mr. Johnson said he would fill out and return today.

The application, to be submitted in six copies to the state highway division office, requires a complete description of the road project, and requires that the public roads administration certify that the described project is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war and that the use of bituminous road materials is essential in the amount and kind indicated.

Delivery Difficulties

Mr. Johnson said that the matter of getting the 32 cars of tar topping now on order was not affected by supply, but by lack of tank car space to make deliveries.

Following are excerpts from the OPCW communication:

"... the use of asphalt or of any asphaltic product, including road oils, or of tar or any tar product, in the construction, reconstruction, paving, surfacing or resurfacing, and in the maintenance or repair of any public road, street, highway, or public parkway in the areas (defined (Ohio is one of the areas) and the purchase, sale, delivery or withdrawal from storage of any asphalt or asphaltic product including road oil, or tar or any tar product, for any such use, shall be deferred for the duration of the emergency except in the case of public roads, streets, highways or driveways or public parkways certified by the public roads administration of the Federal Works Agency to be necessary to the successful prosecution of the war...

"... no asphalt or asphaltic product, including road oils, or tar or any tar product, shall be used during the emergency in the construction, reconstruction, paving, surfacing or resurfacing or in maintenance or repair of any roadway or other surface for vehicular use, walkway, yard, parking area, or any other similar surface subject to restricted use and not within a building (but not including airport or aircraft landing surfaces on which aircraft operate) except as may be approved by the director of marketing, office of petroleum coordinator for war, Washington, D. C."

Railway Garage Workers in Detroit on Strike

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, July 9—An estimated 1,000 maintenance workers of Detroit's department of street railway garages, quit work this morning in a dispute that arose when "two or three" employes refused to join a CIO local union, general manager Fred Nolan announced.

Transportation facilities were not affected today, Nolan said, but difficulties will arise if the strike continues through another 24 hours. An eventual shutdown is possible, he added.

The company operates street cars and bus lines in this war-busy industrial city.

BEGIN CHINA AIR OFFENSIVE

Reports of U. S. Attacks Come as Chinese Announce Fall of Railway.

By The Associated Press

Reports on the developing United States air offensive against the Japanese in China offset somewhat today the gloom of a belated Chinese acknowledgement that the enemy had completed conquest of the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, on the first leg of a project to link Shanghai and Singapore overland.

Long before the Japanese can effect their grandiose plan, which involves not only use of existing lines but construction of at least one new rail section, the American air offensive probably will have hit its stride.

Today's communique from the headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell detailed attacks on the Japanese at Hankow and Canton on July 2, 4 and 6.

The latest assault was a return trip to Hankow, in face of adverse weather. On that trip Allied bombers attacked oil stores

NELSON REALIGNS WPB GENERAL STAFF

Board Chief Announces Three New Appointments.

WASHINGTON, July 9—Donald M. Nelson realigned his production general staff today for better strategic direction of the flow of ore and ingots into America's factories.

He announced the appointment of two vice-chairmen of the war production board and a director general of operations. These men he said, would take much of the administrative load off his shoulders and leave him free to decide matters of policy.

Nelson explained the top directing officials had been shifted because the board's main job now was speeding up the supply of raw materials.

The three new appointees were shifted from other WPB posts. In peacetime they were key executives of private industries. They are:

William L. Batt—vice-chairman of the board to serve as Nelson's general assistant and deputy; had been chairman of the board's requirements committee. In peacetime Batt was an industrial engineer, president of SKF Ball Bearing Company.

James S. Knowlson—vice-chairman of the board with responsibility for determining the programs and Nelson's deputy on the combined production and resources board. He was formerly director of industry operations and now takes over Batt's vacant chairmanship of the requirements committee. Knowlson, an electrical engineer, was president of Stewart-Warner.

Amory Houghton—director general of operations, including supervision of the industry and material branches and the field organization. Houghton is chairman of the board of the Corning Glass Works, now on leave. He had been deputy chief of the WPB bureau of industry branches.

City To Seek Temporary 50-Bed Hospital Addition

Commission Proposes Application for $125,000 Federal Grant; Would Supply $25,000 for Equipment.

The city of Marion next week will seek a federal grant of $125,000 for a temporary, one-story, 50-bed frame addition to City hospital to be built by Oct. 1 as an emergency measure to cope with the increased population due to war plants in the area, provided the plan is approved Monday night by city council.

The request for the grant will include the information that Marion, from the $200,000 hospital addition fund voted last fall, will supply up to $25,000 to purchase movable equipment which will be used both now and when the present war emergency is over and a permanent structure is erected.

Also the city will offer the government the site, and will agree to assume the expenses of operating and maintaining the addition.

The hospital building commission last night at a meeting in the office of Mayor Russell C. Snare approved plans for the temporary structure as submitted by T. D. McLaughlin of the firm of McLaughlin & Associates of Lima, architects employed for the addition project, and agreed that Mayor Snare and Mr. McLaughlin present the plans and the city's offer personally to D. B. Kennicott of Chicago, regional federal works administration engineer, the last of next week if council approves the commission's recommendation.

Text of Resolution

The resolution, passed unanimously last night by the commission with the exception of A. W. Kettle who could not be present, was:

"We will submit the plans and estimates to city council for approval prior to requesting a grant of $125,000 and further, for approval of the city's furnishing the site, operating the addition and providing up to $25,000 of removable equipment which will be used in a permanent hospital after the emergency."

The resolution was presented by C. O. Brown and was seconded by Dr. E. L. Brady. The vote of Walter A. Dorsey of the fourman commission made the passage unanimous among the members present.

Mr. McLaughlin told the board that he did not believe the government would make a grant to the city covering the cost of equipment which the city could use after the war, since the grants are given only on emergency projects.

The offer to furnish the removable equipment also would show the city's financial interest in getting the addition and would further impress upon the FWA the urgent need for the addition, the architect advised.

Purpose of Grant

The $125,000 grant will be sought to cover construction costs, including materials, and architects fees.

Plans presented last night call for two wings extending west from the north and south wings of the present building, connected to the main building by ramps.

As set up in the plans, the wings will be 175 feet long and 40 feet wide, with solariums near the outside center of each wing.

The south wing will be entirely patients' rooms. The north wing will include a major operating room, two minor operating rooms, patients' rooms at the east end and at the extreme west end, an out-patients' section for giving treatments and taking care of injury and accident cases.

The area between the two wings will be for driving, deliveries, doctors' and nurses' passage area and parking.

In the center of the southside of the north wing will be the ambulance entrance, directly opposite the major operating room.

Surgery On First Floor

Mr. McLaughlin said that moving the surgery section from the second floor of the present building, on the same floor with the obstetrical section, to a wing of the addition not only would be more satisfactory hospital planning, but also would answer the problem of the already overtaxed elevator, which would be required to handle more than twice its present traffic if the shift was not made.

With the operating room off the second floor of the main building, the surgery space will be turned into a four-bed ward and milk laboratory, the labor and delivery rooms will be set up at the south end, and the nursery will be moved from the west to the east side of the corridor and enlarged to include 21 cribs. The cost of the second-floor remodeling would be slight, Mr. McLaughlin said, and is covered in the plans he presented last night.

The architect firm's engineer visited the hospital recently and has advised that a stoker on the present hospital furnace will take care of heating the temporary structure, he told the board.

RACE MEET TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Three-Year-Old Pace Stake To Top List of 3 Scheduled Events.

Tonight's nine-dash racing program at the county fairground track will mark the close of the two-week Little Grand Circuit meeting, Frank M. Foster, secretary of the Marion Trotting association, announced today.

Because of postponement of last Friday's program, race officials could have continued the nightly speed attractions another night, but Mr. Foster explained today that the meet already was a success and drivers, trainers and owners were anxious to move on to other tracks.

Up for decision tonight are three races of three heats each. Twenty-four horses in fields numbering seven, eight and nine have been nominated for tonight's final card.

Feature Event

Feature event will be the three-year-old pace stake, a $500 event attracting eight entries. This race remaiches Hustler, a bay gelding owned by Kirk & Vallery of Washington C. H., T. J. Van, a chestnut gelding owned by R. E. Van Camp of Cincinnati and Joe C. Abbe, a bay gelding owned by Clinton Lighthill of Ottawa. All three horses were heat winners in a similar Fourth of July race.

The 2:15 pace, third race on tonight's card, is likely to be the fastest race of the entire meeting. It brings together nine of the leading horses among the 215 now quartered at the fairground.

2:17 Trot

Likewise the 2:17 trot with a strong field of candidates is likely to produce some astounding times. Conchita, a brown mare owned by R. E. Van Camp of Cincinnati, is the leading contender in a field of seven trotters.

A crowd estimated at 2,500, second best turnout of the meeting, witnessed last night's thrill-packed, nine dash program. Jimmy Stately, a brown gelding owned by M. J. Baker of Arcanum, Ohio, covered the mile in 2:07½ and 2:08½ to win the $500 stake race for 2:17 pacers. Merry Mite, a bay mare owned by Ralph Lenox of Richwood and driven by Byron Perry, also of Richwood, copped top honors in the free-for-all pacing contest. Details of last night's races may be found on today's sports pages.

MAY DISCLOSE PART OF TRIAL OF EIGHT NAZIS

Indication of Break in Secrecy Seen as Proceedings Enter Second Day.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—The gun-brisiling caravan guarding eight German-born men accused of plotting against the United States swept back into the justice department today, and there were some indications that part of what is going on at their secret trial might be made public.

A representative of the office of war information, which has been attempting to arrange disclosures of non-dangerous parts of the proceedings, arrived at the department and said he had been told to "sit tight." Elmer Davis, head of the office, and Secretary of War Stimson had an appointment with President Roosevelt and there was speculation among White House attaches it had to do with the trial.

In a continuing effort at secrecy the soldiers and motorcycle policemen who brought the prisoners from the District of Columbia jail for the opening of the second day of the trial used a different entrance to the department than they had yesterday.

The escort was depleted by the breakdown of one army scout car enroute.

End Forecast

There were strong indications that another day or two might see the end of the proceeding in which a commission of seven generals will pass judgment on the men who rowed ashore from submarines and landed at night on deserted beaches.

Although many potential witnesses were observed passing though the closely guarded door to the trial room area there was no official information as to which of them testified.

Toward the end of the first day there were indications that the story being unfolded by the prosecutors — Attorney General Biddle and Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, the army's judge advocate general—had reached the morning of June 13 when four men were brought by rubber boat from a German submarine to the sandy shore near Amagansett, Long Island.

This appeared from the fact that four coast guardsmen were seen entering the walled-off trial area.

The eight defendants, each charged with violating the law and articles of war, are George John Dasch, Edward John Kerling, Ernest Peter Burger, Henry Harm Heinck, Werner Thiel, Hermann Otto Neubauer, Richard Quirin and Hapt.

Mrs. Melind On Stand

The generals were reported to have heard yesterday the testimony of Mrs. Gerda Melind, 24, Chicago widow and one-time sweetheart of Herbert Hans Haupt, a defendant.

From the fact that Mrs. Melind was on the stand—one of the few to seep from the highly secret proceedings—it was possible to speculate that the prosecution was tracing the earlier background of the defendants before

Final Plans Made To Sell "Victory Corsages" of War Stamps in Marion

Young Women To Sell Them Friday and Saturday; Girl Scouts Make Up 750 Corsages.

"Assembly line" production was set up yesterday in the Marion Chamber of Commerce office by a group of some 30 Girl Scouts who gathered to make "Victory Corsages" and Boutonnieres" for the "Retailers for Victory" Friday and Saturday war stamp and bond sales campaign in the downtown retail stores.

Asked to make up 750 of the novel patriotic decorations, the girls reported at 9 a. m.—some took their lunch—and worked until 5 in the afternoon.

The production program was in charge of Mrs. Robert Yazel, one of the leaders, and Miss Esther Markley, a senior scout who had experience making the corsages for a Columbus store.

One group of girls cut the cellophane packets, another group fitted the stamps into the packets, others cut leaves, some fastened the leaves and "flowers" together and a last group made and attached the bows of red, white and blue ribbon.

The attractive lapel decorations are made up of nine 10-cent stamps for $1, two 25-cent stamps for 60 cents or nine 25-cent stamps for $2.50. Price of materials used is covered in the price.

Shifts of two girls each will be at Wiant's Book store on South Main street from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday, making and selling the corsages. Virtually every retail store in the downtown area will have the corsages on sale.

Some of the girls worked again today and there was a possibility that there might be work Friday to finish the job, Miss Edith Treat, Girl Scout executive director, said.

The assistance given the retailers in their drive to sell $10,000 worth of stamps and bonds this month, is a service bureau project of the Scouts.

At noon Friday, 20 young women of the city will sell the "victory" corsages and boutonnieres. Likewise, on Saturday afternoon the bouquets will be sold on the street corners.

Saleswomen will be the same young women who aided in last week's "Whiteout for Victory" stamp and bond selling campaign. They will work under the direction of Miss Maud Gorham, chairman of the women's division of the county war stamp and bond staff.

FBI SEIZES 84 MORE BUNDISTS

Brings Total Arrests to 113 in Quick Drive To Round Up Enemy Aliens.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 9 — Fast-moving FBI agents bent on wiping out the German-American Bund rounded up 84 additional members in the metropolitan area last night for a total of 113 bundist arrests throughout the nation in two days.

The new prisoners were seized as dangerous enemy aliens and were removed to Ellis Island to await hearings by alien enemy boards that could result in internment for the war's duration.

Meanwhile some of the original 29 indicted Tuesday on charges ranging from espionage to evasion of the selective service and Alien registration acts were arraigned and held in bail as high as $50,000. Pleas of innocent were entered by all but one of those heard yesterday.

Among those pleading innocent was Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, former national Bund leader, who Buy on Credit in May? Better Pay Up Today!

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 9—If you owe money for any goods purchased in May or earlier you'd better pay up before the close of business today.

If you don't, the account will be "frozen," which is a polite way of saying you cannot buy anything else on credit until things have been straightened up in full.

It's all due to regulations of the federal reserve board requiring charge purchases be settled for no later than the tenth of the second calendar month after the month of purchase.

Willkie Wants To Visit Far-Flung War Fields

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 9—Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican presidential candidate, said today that he would seek official consent to visit the battlefields of Australia, China, Russia and other United Nations.

He did not indicate in what capacity he would make such a trip—as a civilian or an official observer—but it was understood he wanted to see at first hand conditions in the war areas.

He said that he put out some "feelers" to get approval for the trip but that it was too early to say anything definite about it.

SAYS 18-19 GROUP WILL NOT BE CALLED

Kentuckian Predicts War Will End In 1943.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—Predicting the war would end "probably in 1942 and unquestionably in 1943," Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military affairs committee said today there would be no need for the army to induct married men or youths in the 18 and 19 year group.

The information on which he based the prediction, the Kentuckian told reporters, was "a military secret," obtained since the recent apparent Russian reverses.

The assertion that the drafting of married men and boys under 20 would be unnecessary, May said, was based on selective service records. The war department has not requested that youths of 18 and 19 years be drafted and May said he would oppose any such request if it should be made.

Best estimates based on the recent registration of 18 and 19 year old boys, May said, showed there were approximately 3,125,000 in this group.

"With that many men yet to be utilized, and figuring 1,000,000 of them will become twenty years of age each year and subject to induction, it will not be necessary to provide for the induction of anyone under twenty," he said, adding:

"It is a safe estimate to say this group will net the service, after rejections for all purposes, approximately 2,000,000 fighting men in the next two years, which is more than the army needs."

May expressed the view an army of 5,000,000 was all the nation needed. The army has said it hoped to have 4,800,000 men under arms by the end of this year.

"With what we have now and the reserve power becoming available each year," May explained, "the army's manpower needs can be met without resorting to the extremely young men or men who are married."

"The enemy soon will be so busy abroad coping with the men we now have there and will have there shortly, that he will be unable to give us any invasion worry, and there will be no need for a large 'home army'."

REDS ASSERT LINES ALONG RIVER HOLDING

Also Claim Huge Nazi Battleship Tirpitz Hit by Torpedoes.

By The Associated Press

The future of the war in Russia, or more immediately, success or failure for Germany's greatest drive this year, was being decided today on the banks of the upper Don, with the enemy striving to exploit new river crossings where earlier bridgeheads had been crushed.

Dispatches from the Russian front said that the Germans thus far had failed to gain any broad foothold east of the Don and that counter-attacks endangered the flank of the German wedge to the west, but Vichy relayed a report that the Germans had forced a new crossing, capturing Bobrov, 60 miles southeast of Voronezh.

Say Tirpitz Torpedoed

Remote but related developments were the reported crippling of Germany's mightiest battleship, the 35,000-ton Tirpitz, by a Russian submarine on the Arctic supply route to Russia and a strong attack overnight by the RAF on a center of German naval power, Wilhelmshaven and nearby Wesermunde.

The German high command denied flatly that the Tirpitz had been either attacked or damaged.

Its communique referred to the partial success so far as a breach in the Russian front which had "shaken" the Russian line "over a breadth of more than 300 miles."

Germans and their allies, said the communique, are on the move in the whole area, with fast advancing formations in close pursuit of Russian troops said to be in disordered flight. Strong air forces were said to be hitting at the Russian columns by day and night.

Berlin Claims Gains

On the other hand, the Berlin report added, Russian attacks to relieve the pressure along the Don were beaten down in four days of fierce fighting north and northwest of Orel.

The Germans also reported extensive fires at Murmansk, Russian Arctic port, as a result of air attacks there, suggesting that Germany's claims this week of sweeping attacks against a large Russian-bound convoy were not so well founded and that planes were sent to Murmansk to attack the ships which the Russians reported arrived intact.

Waiting In Egypt

The battle of Egypt has become largely a waiting game with both the British and the axis forces near El Alamein trying to hold present positions, pending reinforcement necessary for a major move.

The British reported, however, a continuation of their counter-offensive by air with more successful bomb assaults on Marshal Rommel's German-Italian forces and the Axis claimed that the defenders of the El Alamein gateway to the Nile had been driven from important positions.

There was little to relieve the gravity of the situation in Russia. The Germans were reported to have massed 800 tanks on the west bank of the upper Don where, with the benefit of quantitative superiority, they sent light armored units, automatic infantry and shock troops across to new landing points on the east bank.

The Red army's strategic withdrawal from Staryi Oskol, 65 miles southwest of Voronezh, had widened the German salient toward Voronezh, giving the Germans a triangular corridor pointed against the Don and based on a 160-mile line through Belgorod, Kursk and Orel.

Huge Force Massed

The Germans have massed a tremendous force in the attempt to smash across the Don and into Voronezh and to sever the north-south railway linking Russia's central and southern armies.

There was slim comfort in Russia's apparently well-founded denials of Berlin's earlier claims that Voronezh had been captured and the campaign carried on to the east.

The Russians, however, were jubilant over the overnight announcement that the Tirpitz, mate

NO FEUDS FOR MR. ROOSEVELT

President Reported Resisting Politicians' Efforts To Get Him To Take Sides.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—President Roosevelt, while reserving the right to dabble an experienced finger in politics in his own state, was reported today to have resisted firmly efforts of numerous politicians to get him to take sides in feuds elsewhere.

He himself has remarked that this is war and politics are out. And one individual with access to accurate information asserted that the President had lived up to that declaration so far, although he has had many a bid for political assistance from members of congress who feel uneasy over their chances for reelection in November. A presidential pat on the back conceivably could make a considerable difference in their fortunes.

No 1942 "Purge"

Persons closely associated with the chief executive, who prefer to remain anonymous, say they are convinced there will be no 1942 version of the 1938 "purge," in which the President campaigned against Democrats he considered too conservative.

This year, of course, there could be only one major issue—support of the administration's foreign policy. And since Pearl Harbor there have been few legislators who have raised their voices against that policy.

The present intention of the President apparently is to take no active part in any campaign to unseat pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists—again with a possible exception in New York state, where he maintains his permanent voting residence.

Mr. Roosevelt has taken public notice only once of the isolationist issue. That was last February when he told a press conference that when the country is at war, we want congressmen, regardless of party, who would have a record of backing up the government in an emergency.

He was commenting on a speech in which Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, said it would be the equivalent of a major military disaster if the Democrats lost control of congress.

No Senate Worry

They have little to worry about on that score in the senate where the terms of only 23 of the 85 Democrats expire next January. And at least a dozen of these Democrats are from states in which the election of a Republican would be a modern political miracle.

As for the house, Flynn twice has predicted after conferences with the chief executive that the party would gain seats this year.

The one pre-war critic of foreign policy who appears most likely to encounter presidential opposition is Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-NY), who represents Mr. Roosevelt's own congressional district, and is a veteran of 22 years in congress.

The President has insisted on his right to participate in New York state politics ever since he entered the White House. Exercising that right, he has conferred in recent weeks with New York politicians about a Democratic candidate for governor.

The President has indorsed no candidate specifically.

Methodist Rally Held at Green Camp School

With a view to sending a number of delegates from Marion county churches to the Methodist youth fellowship institute at Lakeside-on-Lake-Erie Aug. 2, a county youth rally was held on the Green Camp school grounds Wednesday night. Miss Della Owens of LaRue, county president, was in charge.

The group of about 40 young people gathered on the school steps saw a "typical day at Lakeside" including "classes" enacted. Recreation and a candlelight campfire service were also conducted. Miss Margaret Huffman of Epworth church in Marion was in charge of the candlelight campfire service. Rev. Warren Bright of LaRue led the singing. Rev. T. A. Ballinger of Green Camp was the host pastor.

The young people discussed the renting of cottages, transportation and sugar rationing in connection with obtaining meals at the resort in the business session.

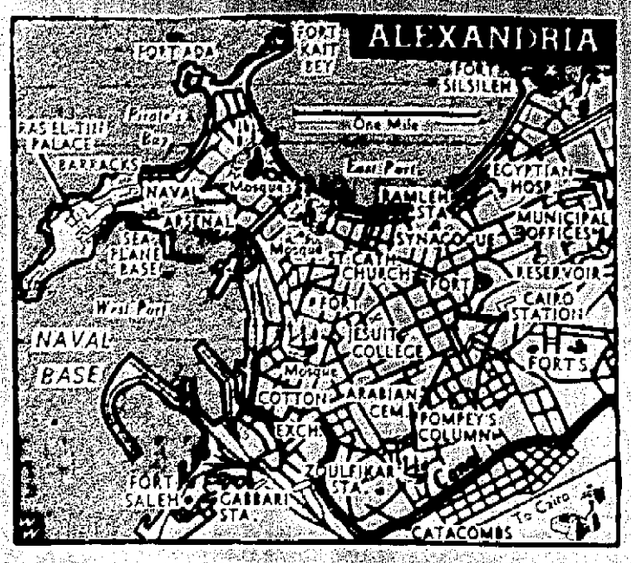
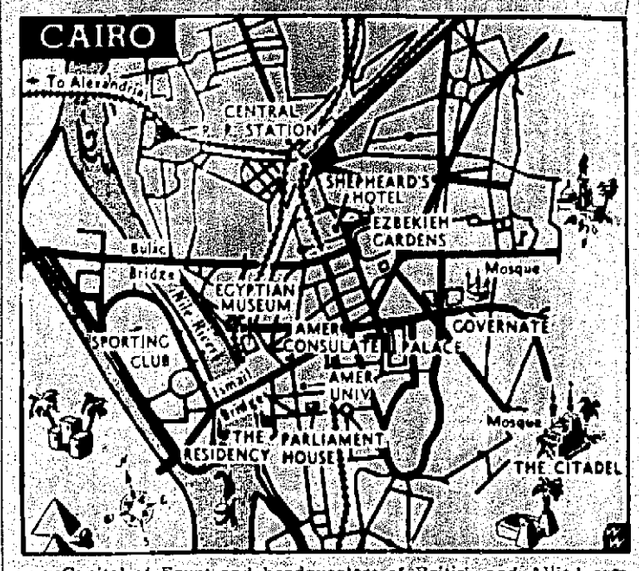
MEDINA, O., July 9—The 1942 Medina county fair has been cancelled because of the rubber shortage.

Marshal Rommel's Goals



Wide World Features

Key cities of Egypt, Alexandria and Cairo lie in the path of the Axis African drive. Alexander the Great founded the port of Alexandria more than 2,200 years ago for his Persian campaign and the spacious harbor has been an important naval base since. The city of 682,000 stands guard over the Suez canal, holds naval control of the eastern Mediterranean. Britain's great supply and repair docks and demilitarized units of the French fleet anchored there make Alexandria a rich war prize.



Capital of Egypt and headquarters of British and Allied commands, Cairo's principal military significance is her location on the north end of the air ferry from America and of the overland supply highways. Lend-lease aid crosses from the Gold Coast to Khartoum, goes down the Nile through Cairo to the front, a short cut of the Red Sea ship route. Cairo's 1,307,000 cosmopolitan population, a lush bit of Europe in the hot desert, enjoyed an unparalleled war boom at the race track, polo grounds and night clubs before Marshal Rommel's tanks broke past Tobruk.

COLUMBUS, O., July 9—In a "sugar bonus" quandary, lady?

Karl P. Ruth, food rationing representative of the Ohio OPA office, said today many housewives were confused over procedure to obtain a two-pound extra ration of sugar for household use.

The bonus will come automatically to household consumers without applying to their local rationing board, said Ruth. The bonus will be paid on stamp No. 7 in the consumer's ration book.

Between July 10 and Aug. 22 consumers will be able to get a total of six pounds for each member of the family instead of four. These are the dates on which the respective stamps are good:

Stamp No. 5, for two pounds, June 28-July 25.

Stamp No. 6, for two pounds, July 26-Aug. 22.

Stamp No. 7, for two pounds, July 10-Aug. 22.

The No. 7 stamp will be good for 16 days before stamp No. 6 becomes valid. During the July 10-July 25 period, both No. 5 and No. 7 are valid. Between July 26 and Aug. 22, both No. 6 and No. 7 are valid.

Extra sugar also will be available to industrial and institutional users. Their increase is for months of July and August. The bonus certificates, however, will not be available to them until Aug. 15.

of the destroyed Bismarck, had herself been struck and seriously damaged by two torpedoes from a submarine of the Red fleet.

Soviet dispatches said the blows had frustrated interception of a large convoy carrying arms to Russia from the United States and Britain.

The battleship was said to have taken refuge in a well-shielded Norwegian fjord.

The announcement followed unconfirmed German claims that 32 out of 38 merchantships bound for Russia had been sunk by combined German air and U-boat attacks.

RAF Attacks

The London air ministry used the term "strong force of aircraft" in describing the night attack on Wilhelmshaven—words which in the past have meant that 200 or 300 bombers were involved.

While the bomber command was working over the naval base and submarine building center, and, according to the Germans, the port and industrial city of Wesermunde, 20 miles east of Wilhelmshaven, the RAF fighter command smashed at enemy aerodromes and other objectives in occupied France.

The British announced interception and destruction of two German bombers and acknowledged that four of their own were missing.

The German high command credited one of its motor torpedoboat flotillas with sinking six merchant ships totaling 19,000 tons, including tankers, in an attack on a convoy off the English coast.

With the axis claiming without details that "some important positions" had been won in Egyptian land fighting and the British reporting only a minor night raid, the major phases of that conflict apparently were being fought in the air.

Amid Dust Storms

British fighter-bombers smashed at Axis vehicles and landing grounds throughout yesterday despite dust storms. Eight Axis planes were downed, others were attacked aground and the loss of six British planes was acknowledged.

At Malta, six Axis planes were destroyed in continuing day and night raids the British said. The Axis acknowledged one lost, claimed 10 British planes destroyed and added that two allied submarines had been sunk by an Italian destroyer.

SIX SONS IN ARMY

By International News Service

ST. LOUIS—Mrs. William H. Maas, the number one mother of St. Louis, who has six sons in the United States armed forces, recently received a medallion from the Emblem of Honor Associations of New York. It was presented by Mayor Becker of St. Louis. Five of Mrs. Maas' sons are privates and one is a sergeant. They are stationed in army camps ranging from the Mississippi to the West Coast.

sulation, will be mounted on concrete blocks. Floors will be maple, except in the operating rooms where asphalt tile will be used. There will be an insulated pitched roof, and acoustone ceilings insulated against heat and cold. The interior sidewalls will be of fireproof gypsum board. There will be no plastering.

After carefully examining the drawings and samples of materials for the ceiling and side walls, and discussing the emergency situation from every angle, the commission expressed satisfaction with the plans for the temporary structure.

Speedy Action Urged

Because of the greatly increased population due to the war plants, the shortage of physicians which the city faces due to calls to the armed service, the possibility of increased accident and illness cases, it was agreed that every effort should be made to have the addition ready for use by the Oct. 1 date.

Last night's action coincided with action taken at a meeting June 15 in which the commission received official opinions that the city cannot build a permanent addition until after the war, because of priorities on critical materials. At the June meeting it was decided to seek the federal grant.

Before the council meeting Monday night the application for the grant will be completed, Major Shore and Acting City Director R. M. Wilhelm.

ASK ELIMINATION OF UNESSENTIAL CALLS

Bell Co. Requests Subscribers' Cooperation.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 9 — The Ohio Telephone Co. today asked subscribers to eliminate all unessential long distance calls to points outside the state, especially to the nation's capital. Merrick, the utility's commercial manager, said this applies particularly to calls to Washington, "We are requesting subscribers to refrain from calling unless the reason for the call is connected with war activities or military activities except in cases of emergency.

"Calls connected with the war effort should be restricted to those which are absolutely essential. We are also asking public cooperation in reducing the number of long distance calls and making the calls very brief."

Bell's action followed reports that rationing of long distance calls might be necessary eventually to keep communication lines open for war and other vital government activities. A spokesman said the company is planning advertisements in all Ohio newspapers, and announcements over all state broadcasting stations in an effort to gain public cooperation.

Merrick suggested when a situation arises that is sufficiently important to warrant using long distance service, an effort should be made to avoid "peak hours." The suggested calling times are from 12 p. m., 5 to 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. to 8 a. m. week days.

"The nation's telephone lines, especially long distance, are carrying a load which has never been approached," Merrick declared.

"Most of this traffic is directly connected with promotion of the war effort, either on the part of military establishments, government agencies, or business and industrial establishments engaged in war production work. It is vitally necessary that their telephone calls go through without delay."

REPORT HEER OKAYED FOR GOVERNOR RACE

Franklin Co. Democratic Head Gets Official Nod.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., July 9—Walter P. Heer, Democratic chairman of Franklin county, was reported today to have the nod in his gubernatorial aspirations from the Cuyahoga county Democratic organization headed by Ray T. Miller.

Although Miller emerged from a meeting of the candidate scanning committee late last night to say all were pledged to silence until Tuesday, those close to the situation said the committee backed Heer, one of the group of county chairmen who sponsored the "draft Miller for governor" movement several weeks ago.

The committee's report is considered equivalent to action by the entire organization because it includes so many of the group's key men.

Michael A. Feighan, former Democratic leader of the Ohio house of representatives, was reported supported for nomination to congress in the 20th district over Congressman Martin L. Sweeney. Sweeney was an isolationist before Pearl Harbor. The district is entirely within Cleveland.

Other reported endorsements went to State Senator James Metzenbaum for the Democratic nomination for congress in the 22nd district, and to John Gillespie, chief deputy sheriff, in opposition to veteran Congressman Robert Crosser in the 21st district.

Clearing the Air

EQUIPPED with the world's greatest capacity for fooling themselves, Americans managed for years to hope that subversionists in their midst would be incapable of harm. War cleared the air. The government clamped down on the underground workers, with results now becoming evident. Latest move is the blanket indictment against German bundists, charging them with conspiracy to defeat the purpose of the selective service act and alien registration acts.

Their crime is, of course, conspiracy to defeat the United States. In a war of survival, but for legal purposes it will be easier to catch them up on a more specific charge. Public opinion, which indicted them years ago, won't object strongly to any measure that gets results. It didn't object to putting Comrade Browder in the jug for passport monkey business, though his crime was a lot more serious than that.

And speaking of Comrade Browder, his "countrymen" still wonder about him and his kind. They and the bundists were tarred with the same stick. For the brief interval of that strangely beautiful friendship between Germany and Russia, they were bedfellows. They are still among the minor annoyances of modern times in the countries they are determined to ruin if possible. Far from clearing the air in their case, the war has laid down a smoke screen.

China's in the War Too

IT WAS a fine thing if the fifth anniversary of Japan's attack on China made Americans uncomfortable. Some parts of the record concerning China aren't nice to look at. If more thought had been given to the Chinese as allies, the United Nations wouldn't be in such a sad mess now. Perhaps if more thought were given to the Chinese right now, the aggressors could be embarrassed.

That is China's argument. Give China something besides hot air. Give it a few hundred planes and some of the implements of war. Make it the site of that "second front." Help it knock Japan out of the war. Clear the way for United States supplies to Russia. Beat Germany by beating Germany's ally first. It's the logical thing to do, the Chinese argue. Otherwise, China may be knocked out of the war. It can't survive forever on promises and good wishes.

This is something for strategists to decide. It's their job to do the guessing which, if it turns out right, will win the war—their job to determine how and when and where to strike. Perhaps some of the things said on the occasion of China completing five years of bitter-end fighting against the Japanese who have routed the British and seriously embarrassed the Americans reminded United Nations strategists that China's in the war too. Some good may come out of it. At least it's a reminder that the Chinese are in no mood to kid themselves about their role as one of the United Nations.

Too Easy

NEWS from Libya suggests strongly that Gen. Rommel may have gone too far, with serious trouble looming unless he can bring up supplies faster than anyone ever brought them up before. If true, this would confirm a notion about Libya as a battlefield; namely, that it is too good. Retreating and advancing are too easy. The Italians under Graziani chased the British too far in 1940 and got into trouble. The British chased the Italians too far in 1941 and got into trouble. Then Rommel, supposed to be a super-planner, took over and it now appears that he, too, can be carried onward by the mirage of complete victory lying just ahead on the shimmering sands.

Personal Papers

IT'S hardly believable, but Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, is supposed to have ruled against both certificates as one of the indispensables for workers taking jobs in plants with war contracts.

This is not in harmony with the ordinary workings of government regulations, which are invariably distinguished by lack of imagination. Thus, while it has been perfectly clear to everybody else that a saboteur or spy would have his birth certificate in perfect order when applying for a job in a war factory, the government has taken the attitude that only Americans of untainted lineage and connections would be able to lay their hands on these important personal papers.

A little sympathetic imagination, of course, would have made it plain long ago that not more than one American out of 100 would come equipped with a birth certificate, for the simple reason that he never needed one before. Only in the totalitarian countries, where human rights for many years have been almost entirely a matter of passports and identification papers, have such credentials become an indispensable part of the litter that collects in an individual's wallet. In the United States, a person with a birth certificate was someone with good reason to have means of identification handy, which in itself was good and adequate cause for suspicion.

News Behind the News

War Labor Board Reported Deadlocked on Far-Reaching "Little Steel" Dispute.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The best kept [illegible] has been trying to decide, in executive session, the issue of a wage increase in "little steel."

The dominant current economic issue has brought out the nobest in the members of the board. They promptly became deadlocked as soon as the doors were closed.

Reading aloud the report of the fact finding panel board, stating the facts of the case, was the first order of business. At every other conference, the industrial and labor members (four each) jumped up to make challenges or leveled their retaliatory fingers at those who did.

One of the public members, Wayne L. Morse, from the Oregon university law school, indicated by his attitude that he was in favor of granting the $1 a day wage increase demanded by the union, but the other three public members, who hold a balance of power, merely shuffled their feet, scratched their heads and attempted to look non-committal.

These doubtful three included Board Chairman William H. Davis, as well as George Taylor, the University of Pennsylvania professor, and Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina.

Point In Dispute

The argument centered entirely around the question of whether the union should have the $1 a day or nothing. But it was quite evident that the board's attempt to solve this most vital point in the government's war-economics policy would have to be taken to Mr. Roosevelt in the end for a compromise solution, either publicly or privately.

The panel board passed the buck to the trembling 12 by concluding the cost of living had increased 13.3 per cent in steel cities between April 1941 and March 1942, the period of the last contract. In a way, this really suggested more of an increase than the union demanded, as a boost of $1 a day works out to about 12½ per cent increase.

But as everyone knows such an increase, or any part of it, will break the whole structure which the administration has loosely erected against inflation, attempting to hold present wages in line with present prices.

The "little steel" case is, therefore, a test not only for General Motors, Chrysler and other similar cases now pending before the board, but for all wages.

Political Considerations

With a political campaign coming on, however, few expect the administration to defend its current price-structure firmly by denying any increase, at that stand might have labor repercussions in congressional elections. A compromise that will keep labor quiet and preserve some semblance of an orderly anti-inflation policy, therefore, is obviously forecast by the circumstances.

Even so, the question of how long this whole loose anti-inflation technique can continue to have general effect already is being raised, in view of the variety of agitations in the congressional farm bloc, the two back-treadings by Leon Henderson (under congressional pressure), and the coming period of scarcity of consumers' goods.

The business experts generally expect it will last until the elections in November—and that may be long enough to satisfy the political aspects of the matter.

Gas Rationing Outlook

The talked-of national gas rationing step cannot possibly be taken this month, or very soon, on a scale such as is being imposed in the east. Publication and distribution of nearly twenty million books would require several months. OPA has not yet started to print the books on the required scale.

But a distributers' rationing program, limiting the supplies to dealers, could be put into operation without any advance preparation, except toward education of the public as to the necessity. Consumption outside the east could thus be limited as much as 25 per cent without any disastrous effects. At least no hardships were experienced when such a method was tried first in the east.

The latest authoritative impression (it has changed often in recent weeks) is that some such program of control rationing may be attempted before the elections. Anything more drastic could logically be expected to wait until after the printing is done—and perhaps the balloting.

Small Business Aid

The smaller war plants corporation legislation was rushed through congress as an emergency to save small business, but three weeks after its adoption WPB Chairman Donald Nelson was still fingering a list from which to choose a director.

Congressional pressure has been brought on him in favor of certain highly-backed candidates for the job from the middle west. But Nelson has told all the influence wielders he intends to back a legitimate small business man "not a promoter or a small business politician) and such a one has been hard to find.

Puerto Rican Home Rule

Seen as Blow to Hitler Schemes in Caribbean.

By HERMAN ALLEN

THE recently announced plan to give Puerto Rico an elective governor instead of an appointed one is appraised in diplomatic quarters in Washington as a blow at Adolf Hitler's efforts to woo the peoples of the vital island outposts of the Caribbean Sea.

Informed sources point out that Nazi propaganda's have been using Puerto Rico's hazy political status under U. S. sovereignty as an argument to prove the "hypocrisy" of the democracies.

This argument has been based on the fact that a few months before the U. S. took Puerto Rico from Spain in the Spanish-American War, the island had won a "charter of freedom" from Madrid giving the Puerto Ricans unprecedented political liberties. During the 44 years of United States rule, nothing approaching the breadth of that freedom has been achieved, although the islanders have been granted American citizenship.

Long Trend Reversed

The proposal submitted by Governor Rexford Tugwell reverses this trend of almost half a century, holds out the promise of the greatest degree of self-government in Puerto Rico's history, and thus knocks the props out from under the Nazi promises of better days under Nazi rule.

It is the first practical application of the Atlantic Charter and may become a precedent for similar action by Great Britain in regard to her colonies.

Tugwell's tenure in the Caribbean island has not been without storminess, there has been criticism from within and from without. There have been formal, official demands from Puerto Rican leaders for his replacement.

The German propaganda in Puerto Rico has been carried out through a small but entrenched group of conservative Spaniards there. These Spaniards made no secret of the financial support they sent General Franco during the Spanish civil war. This group has been very vocal and has made itself heard not only on the island but across the Caribbean on the South American mainland.

Doubly Important

This link with South America gives the Tugwell plan a double significance in the relationships between the United States and the other Americas. The other half of the importance is due to the Roosevelt administration's emphasis on Puerto Rico as the bridge between the northern and southern halves of the new world.

By proposing greater political freedom for Puerto Rico, Governor Tugwell—who usually has the support of the White House, and is reported to have it in this case—sets up a signpost on the road to future United States foreign policy.

He gives one more indication that "dollar imperialism" is dead. Puerto Rico is politically a part of North America, but culturally it belongs to Spanish America. All parts of Spanish America have a keen sympathy for all other parts, and are quick to resent political interference or to appreciate tokens of friendship. An elective governor for Puerto Rico would bring more applause for "the good neighbor."

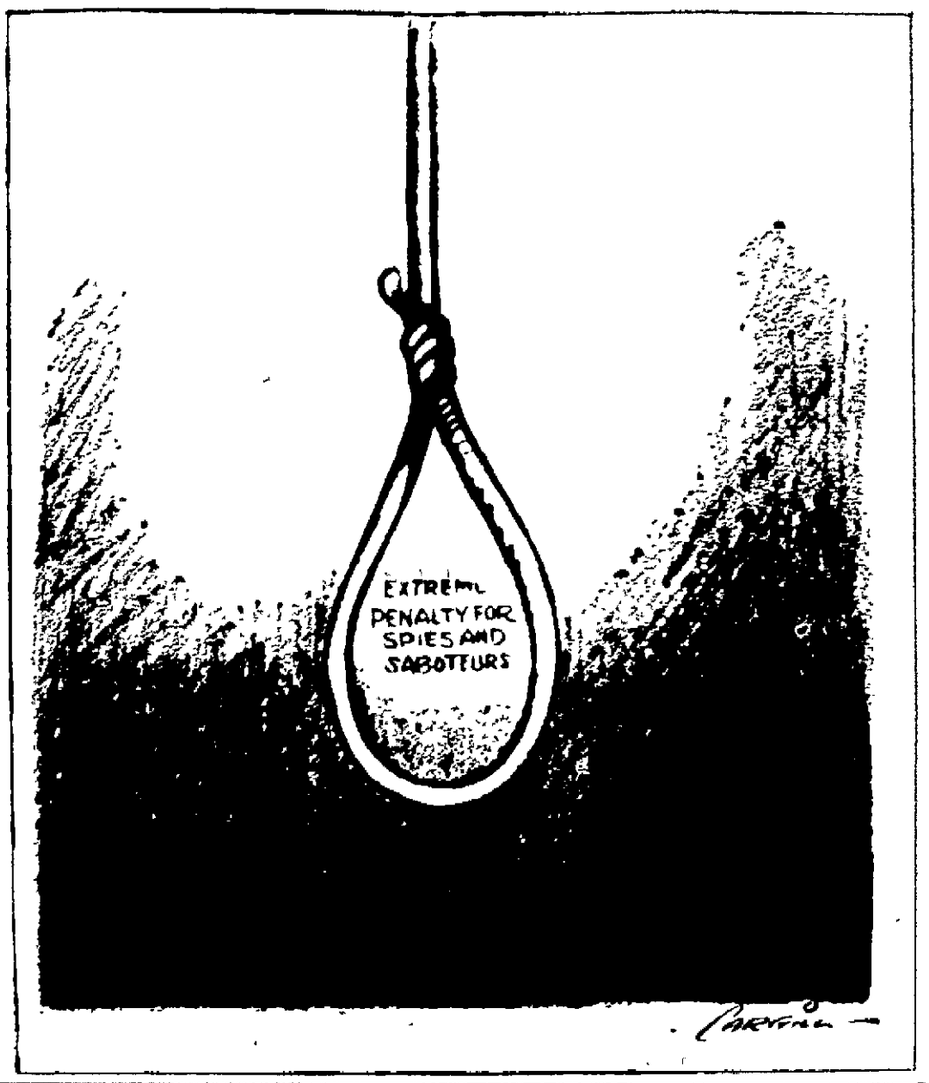
HOW WAR SHOULD END FOR SOME PEOPLE



Today and Tomorrow

Big Factor in War, Though Difficult To Weigh, Is Men's Will To Win.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THIS is the third summer during which we have to steel ourselves against the kind of false objectivity which paralyzes the will. France was ruined by it in 1940 when the French generals, making what they thought was an expert and professional estimate of German strength, concluded the armistice and took the French fleet and the French Empire out of the war. Britain would have been lost too if Mr. Churchill had accepted the paper calculations, if Mr. Roosevelt had listened to the experts who had proved so thoroughly that Britain was lost. The same over-objective experts were equally certain in 1941 that the panzers would go through Russia like a knife through butter and that the Soviet regime would collapse. We are now hearing from them again, this time about what is going to happen if all resistance collapses everywhere and the Axis powers attain all their strategic objectives.

The trouble with this kind of thinking is that in the laudable desire not to indulge in wishful thinking, these prophecies leave out of account, when they do not actually destroy, the capacity of men to think wilfully. The false professionalism of the French generals caused the totally unnecessary surrender of the dominant Allied position in the Mediterranean. The false professionalism of some of our experts, if they had been listened to in 1940, would have caused us to deny to Britain that small tangible assistance and that hope of greater assistance which were certainly one of the decisive military factors in the battle of Britain. The same false professionalism would in 1941 have caused us to abandon Russia. Let us not be misled by it now as the tide of battle mounts to its climax for this year.

Inventories of Little Help

Necessary as it is to calculate the position and the prospects and all the possible eventualities, there is no way in a war of these dimensions, as there is in war games played by academic militarists, to prophecy what is going to happen by making an inventory of tangible assets and liabilities. In the autumn of 1940 and in the autumn of 1941 the actual position was wholly unlike that which the calculators had predicted. They could not calculate, because these things cannot be measured quantitatively, the quality of men and their commanders and their weapons and of the people behind them.

Yet war, as distinguished from a war game, is not a game of chess but a conflict of wills. By what calculation could it have been foretold that at Midway our fliers would get through to the carriers though nine out of ten in one wave of the attack were lost in the attempt?

It is with this philosophy that we must reject as half truths, and therefore vitally false, the vast panoramas of disaster which are being offered to us as the possible probabilities of a great junction of Japan and Germany through China, Russia, India, the Middle East and Africa. Whether all this is conceivable depends in part, perhaps even finally, upon whether the people of the United Nations become fatalistically resigned to the idea or whether they are invincibly opposed to it. For whether men live or die when they are ill depends not only upon the doctors, the nurses, and the medicines but on whether they have the will to live.

Yet no one has ever weighed the will to live in a laboratory, and no one of us who writes comment on the progress of the war should ever forget that an "objectivity" about tanks, supply lines, tactics, and geography can be, if it leaves out the will to live and the will to win, destructive of the will to live and the will to win.

America At War

These panoramic pictures of disaster, which are so easy to write, are half-truths, and therefore false, if for no other reason than that they do not really take into account the fact that America is at war. Our present contributions are, of course, taken into account, and so too is the growth of our armed power. But this is still no true measure of the decisive difference between the position now and the position in the summer of 1940 and 1941.

We can measure the true difference only by realizing that if Britain had been conquered in 1940, and then Russia in 1941, Hitler would have been master of the western world before the United States had even begun to mobilize. It would have been impossible to oppose Japan without opening South America and perhaps even Canada to an easy invasion from Nazi Europe. Today we are not only mobilized but, even more decisively, we have learned from Pearl Harbor, we have learned from our own mobilization, we have learned from the submarine war in our own waters that for us there is no conceivable peace without victory.

We did not know that in 1940 or in 1941. We know it in 1942, and the effect of that knowledge, exhibited at Wake, at Bataan, and at Midway, is to make it certain that we shall use the power we are developing relentlessly and remorselessly. It means that we are no longer merely an arsenal exporting weapons to those with whom we sympathize, but a great nation at war fitting out armadas which go forth unceasingly.

Thus it is now impossible for the enemy to win a final decision in any of his many theaters of war. He must stand everlastingly on guard wherever he is. He can never demobilize. He can never remain at rest. He can never assimilate the people or the lands he occupies. We disturb him everywhere. We arouse men against him everywhere, and so nothing he holds is won and nothing we lose is lost.

This is the supreme factor in 1942. It was not present in 1940 or in 1941. Let us not forget it. Let us not allow ourselves to be robbed of it by the academic and pedantic military calculators who never once since this titanic struggle was begun have ever judged truly the spirit of the nations and the soul of man.

Knighthood Again

TACOMA, Wash. — Chivalry bloomed when Lloyd Wright slipped and fell while walking on a downton street. In falling, he unwittingly struck a woman shopper, knocking her down and causing her to tear a silk stocking.

Did Wright brush his clothes and walk away? No—he took the lady to a nearby store and bought her a new pair of silk stockings.

Signal Corps

Here's the Outfit I Would Choose If Blessed with Enough Gray Matter To Survive the Tests.

By DAMON RUNYON

ONE of the first men killed at Bataan was a lieutenant colonel of the signal corps. I believe that until the fall of Bataan he was the highest commissioned officer killed in action in the American army in World war II.

This calls to my mind the fact that in all our wars since '61, the men of the signal corps have left a record of imperishable glory. It is one of the most hazardous of all branches of the service, yet little exploited or glamorized.

For 80 years the red and white banner of the signal corps has moved with the vanguard of our fighting columns. From York river to San Juan hill, from the Calumpit to the Rhine, the tiny guidon has fluttered in the winds of battle. Unsung heroes of the corps rest in lonely graves in jungle and forest all over the globe.

It is now the most highly specialized of all forms of military service. I can remember when almost any guy who could learn to wave a signal flag could join the signal corps. Now it requires electrical engineers, radio technicians and skilled communications men of keen intellect and to develop this type for its purposes has set up a training school at Monmouth, N. J., that is said to be a miniature West Point.

IT OFFERS astonishing educational advantages for a young man. I think if I had the youth and the necessary I. Q., that is the branch I would seek. The signal corps has always been a classy sort of outfit. I used to envy the dapper appearance of its members, though I must say my feeling did not extend to the risks they had to run.

A non-combatant surgeon major, A. J. Myer, was the daddy of the signal corps. He is said to have invented portable signaling for military purposes, the idea being first tried out against the Navajo Indians during one of our border wars. Perhaps the theories originated from the practices of the Indians themselves. They were great hands for signaling with smoke fires and drums and other devices.

Myer, who was afterward a colonel, met with indifference and hostility when he tried to put his signaling into general use in the service. Many governmental officials were just as dumb then as some are now. Even after the outbreak of the Civil war, there was opposition. It was not until the war was almost over that the signal men were given a separate organization.

MYER and his successor, Col. Nicodemus, were both fired, and the command went to Col. B. F. Fisher, who was never confirmed by the senate. But in spite of all manner of harassment, the corps survived to render valuable service to the federal armies. Meantime, the Confederate army had also developed its system of portable signaling to a high degree.

Gen. A. W. Greeley, in writing of the signal corps years ago, reported that the killed of the corps in the Civil war were 150 per cent of the wounded, as against the usual ration of 20 per cent. It suffered heavily in the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines insurrection, and in the first World war the casualty rate of the signal corps was second only to that of the flying forces.

In the '60's, the signalmen of both armies sent their messages from high towers specially reared for that purpose, from mountain tops and with torches and winking lights at night. Farragut and Porter were able to keep the Mississippi open through signalmen posted at the peaks of the highest masts sending messages o'er the highlands occupied by the foe between the fleets of the central and lower river.

Lieut. Miner of the federal signal corps, watching the more important fords of the Potomac from Sugar Loaf, highest point in Maryland, detected the Confederate advance guard of Lee's army invading Maryland. His warning prevented the invasion from being a complete surprise. Miner stuck to his signaling until finally captured by the Confederates.

It is a grand corps, the signal corps.

Ceylon Now Rubber Source

(From a report of the meeting of the Ceylon Association in London in the London Times.)

With the loss of the Netherlands East Indies and Malaya, Ceylon remains to the Allies as the largest source of supply of plantation rubber and, at the government's request, every effort is being made to produce the maximum possible crop. This we regard as a duty, though it draws on the capital reserves of the tree and hastens the depreciation of our asset.

Very necessary programs of replanting have been postponed indefinitely in order to harvest every available pound of rubber, and the Ministry of Supply have recently offered a cash bonus of thirty cents a pound for over 90 per cent and sixty cents a pound for over 100 per cent standard production. Neither this association nor the Rubber Growers Association was consulted before this offer was made, and it is doubtful if many estates are in a position to produce more than 90 per cent. However this may be, so far as sterling interests are concerned, the bonus given by government with one hand is taken back with the other hand in the form of excess profits tax.

Under the international release of 120 per cent any restriction has, of course, ceased, and Ceylon's export quota is 114,000 tons, as compared with a maximum export of 88,894 tons.

Chance for Engineers

(By International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O.—Australia is a "paradise for an industrial engineer," Capt. Irwin W. Braun, University of Cincinnati graduate, asserted recently in a letter to Laurence R. Cullen, college of engineering and commerce professor of electrical engineering.

"In this land of kangaroos, sunshine and beautiful scenery there are unlimited possibilities and a good industrial engineer could retire in 10 years," Captain Braun wrote.

"It seems that all customs and processes are 10 years behind the United States. They do not have the specialist system but use the old craftsman system in which everything is made by one individual. For example, if you wish to procure office furniture, you merely go to a woodworker and tell him what you want and within three days you have office furniture knocked out by hand.

"Street cars, so-called trams, are all of the open 1900 type. Colleges and institutions of learning are more or less at a standstill because of their buildings being taken over by the forces."

War of Islands

(From the Foreign Commerce Weekly.)

A feature of the present war that distinguishes it from all others is its relentless spread to most of the islands of the world. Such out-of-the-way spots as Bali, Spitsbergen, Wake and the Lofotens have had their day in the headlines. Bits of land like Corregidor and Malta have had a place in the news out of all proportion to their size. Ceylon has been bombed. And now the fourth largest island of the world, Madagascar, has been occupied by forces of the United Nations to forestall its possible use as a base by enemy powers.

"RETAILERS for VICTORY" DRIVE To Sell War Bonds and Stamps

RETAILERS FOR VICTORY

We know that America's needs come first! We know that the more workers and materials used to make planes and tanks and guns and uniforms, the less civilian goods we'll have to sell. . . .

And the sooner America will be able to knock the stuffing out of the Nazis and the Japs!

And that's what we want!

So when we're "short" of this and "out" of that, we're proud — remembering that the things we might have made a profit on are part of a Marine's steel helmet now or part of a bomb or a plane heading for Tokyo. We're proud of that! We're glad you're spending fewer dollars with us because it means more fighting dollars for Marion's fighting men!

We're glad to offer you part of your change in War Stamps and gladder still when you say, "I'll take all of it in War Stamps."

Because it means Marion has the will to win, the courage to win!

It means that Marion is helping to win the war and the peace, too.

By putting at least 10 per cent of Marion's pay — every payday — in War Savings Stamps and Bonds now, Marion is going to have what it takes to buy what it wants when the war's over.

The money we save NOW is what's going to keep our industries' pay rolls booming THEN!

It's going to keep America — and Marion "on top of the world!"

That's what we want!

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

by George Harmon Coxe

CHAPTER 19
Start Of A Plan

JACK FENNER was waiting at one end of the lobby, and came forward to meet them, a slender, trim figured man with a look of sinewy toughness about him that his loose-fitting balmacaan could not hide. His hair was gray-black and smoothly combed, his mouth was thin and even and his agate eyes slanted a little in Tatar fashion so that his glance assumed a perpetually narrowed expression.

There was a lot of tight-muscled energy in the set of his neck and shoulders, the light, sure-footed way he carried himself suggested that he could move swiftly and expertly whenever the occasion demanded.

Joyce introduced him. He smiled and gave Delia a quick, absorbing glance.

"Care for a drink?"

"Why—I don't believe so, thanks."

"Well"—Fenner turned his hat in his hand and grinned—"would you mind sitting with me, then? I don't listen so well on an empty stomach."

Delia looked at her companion, but Joyce merely smiled and nodded.

"All right," she said. "We don't mind. Shall we go in the merry-go-round?"

They walked down the long corridor and turned into the cafe. Fenner refused to give up his hat and coat, and when they had found a table for four he tossed them across the odd chair.

"Three Scotches," he told the waiter.

Not for me," Delia said.

"Let him bring them, Fenner said. "They won't go to waste."

They lit cigarettes while they waited and when they had been served Fenner drank briefly, said "Ah!" and rested his hands on the table, giving his attention to Joyce but keeping Delia in relative focus so that he could see what she did with her eyes.

"What's the story?"

"We want you to story for us," Joyce said quietly.

A frown circled his brow and something happened to his eyes. They did not move, nor did the lids, but there was something bright and steady in their depths that had not been there before.

"Kent knows?" he said.

"No."

"Shouldn't he?"

"Not this time."

"What's my story when he comes around to see me some day and says what's the idea of working for my wife behind my back? Kent's a pretty good friend of mine."

"I know," Joyce said. "You won't be working for me, really, but for Miss Stewart."

"Does he know Miss Stewart?" Fenner asked, not looking at her.

"Of course."

"He's a pretty good detective himself—"

"This is personal. Miss Stewart would rather have an outsider."

"That right, Miss Stewart?"

Delia moistened her lips, hesitated, said: "Yes."

The Story

Fenner summoned the waiter and ordered another Scotch. Without realizing it, Joyce had already sipped some of her drink, but Delia had not touched hers; now she pushed it towards the detective.

"I don't want it, really."

Fenner smiled and took the glass, then noticed that the waiter seemed undecided about accepting the order. "Scotch," Fenner said. "Who's going to tell me?" he added, when the waiter went away.

"I will," Joyce said and mentally edited her account as she went along. "Miss Stewart is engaged to Ward Allen. Do you know him? Well, it doesn't matter. Did you happen to read about the murder of Perry Clarke?"

"I saw the account but I don't [illegible] details are [illegible]," Joyce said. "What it implied was that Perry Clarke had an envelope that contained some compromising information about Ward Allen [illegible] and he wouldn't want to get around."

[illegible] was overmatching [illegible]

"I don't know that it had gone [illegible]," Joyce glanced at Delia and knew there was something else she should say. "Before I tell you the rest of it there's something I've got to say. Miss Stewart didn't want to come to you but I knew we needed help and advice. I told her about you; I said I was sure you wouldn't talk to the police."

"I couldn't promise," Fenner said. "But the only way the police can make me talk is to involve me in the murder and put me on the stand."

"If it came to that," Joyce said, "what you might have to say wouldn't matter anyway. . . . You see, Delia?" But to get back, Miss Stewart knew there was something that Ward Allen wanted and she did something silly. She went to see Clarke at his apartment last night."

Fenner Has A Hunch

Joyce paused here to make sure she did not explain too much, aware that Fenner was taking in every word, every inflection.

"While Clarke was out of the room making a drink, she found the envelope. He didn't discover this and she came away, and not until this morning did she know that Clarke had been murdered. . . . Tonight a man came to her and demanded the envelope."

"What man?"

"She doesn't know."

Fenner's glance slid to Delia and something in it compelled her to speak.

"I never saw him before. He said he though I had the envelope and unless I gave it to him he'd see that the police found out I'd been to Perry Clarke's apartment just before he was murdered."

"Any idea how he knew about you?"

"None," Delia said. "Unless he had been watching the apartment."

"What'd you tell him?"

"I told him I didn't know anything about it."

"So?"

"So he said he'd give me until tomorrow noon."

Fenner finished Delia's drink and started in on the fresh one. He lit a cigaret, absently forgetting to pass them around and said nothing until he had inhaled.

"If you tell him it's no dice he tips off the cops about you, huh? And if you play along your boy friend may be in a jam, is that it?"

"Yes," Delia said.

Fenner's eyes swiveled to Joyce. "You must have had some sort of an idea when you telephoned me?"

"Not an idea," Joyce said. "I just figured that Delia will have to give him the envelope. So I thought perhaps when the man telephoned she could make a date and perhaps you—"

She paused and Fenner smiled at her. It was quick and genuine, that smile, and it changed his whole face. There was a note of respect in his voice when he answered.

"Maybe you came to the right guy after all," he said. "It's as good a hunch as any I'd get, and it might work."

FIREPLACES DANGEROUS

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Open fireplaces in Alabama were greater hazards to life than scarlet fever and diphtheria combined in 1940. Fireplace burns caused 97 deaths, scarlet fever 15 and diphtheria 61.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Two from Marion At NYA Training Centers

Two Marion young people left yesterday to enter training for war production jobs in National Youth Administration centers, according to a news report from the NYA office in Columbus.

Lucian Shenefield of 430 Center street, will train at Patterson Field, Dayton, while living at the NYA Miami Resident Center. Lucien, the son of Mrs. Amy Wilson, was graduated from Green Camp High school in May.

Reva Johnston of 364 North Grand avenue goes to Mansfield for experience in the shops at Charles Mill Resident Center, an all-girl center which opened June 1. Reva is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Johnston. She was graduated from Harding High school this year.

Further information concerning this and other training in NYA shops may be obtained from Mrs. Blythe Crowl, NYA youth counselor, on any Tuesday between 1 and 2:30 at the U. S. employment office, corner of State and Center streets, or by writing to Mrs. Crowl at 9 South Fourth street, Columbus.

MARY CHASE
"... Nothing Is Impossible"

out of an emergency. The first job—and the first career—she made for herself after a depressing call at an employment agency.

"I felt sorry about the cold way job hunting girls were treated," she recalls. "So I started an agency of my own. There were tables where the girls could congregate, and I let them bring their lunches. I filled the place with flowers and canaries and books about dress and deportment."

Business was good—so Mary sold out. A friend who had a company dealing with patents needed $10,000 cash to survive. Mary raised the $10,000 in four hours and was rewarded with a job.

"For a while," she says "I made $500 a week and more. Then I got the bug to come to New York. I went to an employment agency again. The man who ran it said he wanted a vacation and asked me to take over. I said I would stay as long as necessary to get the job I wanted."

A Wall Street financial house indicated interest in her direct advertising ideas but left her out on a limb, and she went to work for a New York newspaper, inaugurating a boat column that proved a market stimulus. Office politics drove her out, and she decided it was time for a boat trip to South America.

Publishes Books

She came back with the idea for "My Data," a little book to be filled with such personal information as clothing sizes, relatives' birth dates, addresses, and so on. It did well. "The Story of America," an inexpensive illustrated book for children, came about after a similar voyage, as did "It's All About Me," a book to be filled with facts about the growing child.

That accomplished, Mary turned to a new field, creating a children's radio quiz program called "What Do You Know?" She followed with her current program, "Go Get It," one of the wackiest offerings on the air.

"I have been broke," she says, "and I know the radio program won't go on forever, but I'm not worrying. I'm a great believer in this world and its opportunities. I'm bored when I'm not doing something. It's been a lot of fun."

STORY OF SURRENDER TO JAP CLASSMATE TOLD

Hong Kong Refugee Tells of Wainwright's Fate.

By The Associated Press

BERKELEY, Calif., July 9—A story that Gen. Jonathan L. Wainwright surrendered personally at Corregidor to a Japanese officer who had been his classmate at West Point was told today by Jan Marsman, wealthy merchant who recently escaped from Hong Kong.

As a result of the coincidence and the former relationship, the Japanese officer appointed Gen. Wainwright "boss" of the prison camp for American soldiers at Baguio, Marsman said.

The merchant, whose eye-witness story of Japanese atrocities during the fall of Hong Kong was recently published, said he could not name the Japanese officer nor give the source of his information, but added the story reached him just a few days ago from Philippine sources and he believed it to be true.

FORMER RESIDENT OF MARION COUNTY DIES

Funeral of C. W. Irvine Held at Chicago.

Relatives here have returned from Chicago where they attended the funeral of Charles W. Irvine, 70, a native of Marion county, held Monday afternoon at the Hubner funeral home in that city. Burial was made in Mt. Auburn cemetery. Charles Mr. Irvine died Saturday, July 4 in Columbus hospital in Chicago following a four weeks' illness. He suffered a stroke and later pneumonia developed.

Mr. Irvine was born in Pleasant township Jan. 25, 1872, to Mr. and Mrs. John Irvine. He was a cashier with the Chicago Street Railway Co. for 25 years and prior to that time practiced law in Indiana.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Mary Kelly Irvine, a son, Ralph, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Irvine, all of Chicago. Brothers and sisters are Mrs. C. L. Cates of near Agosta, Mrs. Inez Powless of Fairfield, Ill., Ransome D. Irvine of near Warren, Rev. J. Cloyd Irvine of Virden, Ill., and William H. Irvine of Camptonport, Mo.

Attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cates, Ransome D. Irvine and Donald D. Irvine of 222 Franconia avenue, a nephew. Mrs. Powless was visiting relatives in Marion at the time of her brother's death and accompanied them to Chicago.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The U. S. Marine Corps and the Army too, for that matter, effectively use the 50-caliber Anti-aircraft machine gun either mounted on a tripod base. These rapid-firing guns literally eat up the ammunition and a thousand rounds of ammunition costs about $240.00.

These guns are used to take low-flying airplanes. Since they fire about 600 shells per minute, that $240 worth of ammunition lasts a little longer than two minutes. So we need thousands of dollars in War Bond sales to furnish our Boys with ammunition for the tools of war. Your War Bond purchases every pay day will buy it. Buy War Bonds and Stamps to the tune of 10 percent of your income from Banks, Postoffices and at some department stores. U. S. Treasury Department

Is Japan Sitting on Top of A Volcano?

By PAUL J. C. FRIEDLANDER
Wide World Features Writer

NEW YORK—Father J. Joseph Lynch, director of Fordham University's famous earthquake observatory, says Japan is overdue for a first class earthquake.

He bases this on the pattern of major earthquakes during the past fifty years. The pattern comes from these official Japanese quake records.

1891, 7,000 persons killed
1896, 27,000 killed.
1906, 1,500.
1923, 99,331 (The Kwanto quake that leveled Yokohama and one-third of Tokyo.)
1927, 2,000.
1933, 3,000.
1935, 3,000.

Father Lynch rules out the 1935 quake because it occurred in Formosa and not Japan proper. The time between quakes was 5, 10, 17, 4, and 8 years for an average of one every eight years. It has been nine years now since the last good-sized shock.

Coasts are Shifting

Japan's mainland averages nearly four slight temblors daily. Her east coast is slowly but appreciably rising out of the Pacific Ocean while her west coast is as steadily subsiding into the Seas of Japan. While the United Nations apparently do not intend to wait for geology to win the war, it may help.

Except for modern steel and fire resistant construction in the heart of Tokyo and in other large cities, most of Japan's flimsy dwellings and business properties are made of light wood, flexible enough to absorb these minor shocks, and highly inflammable. They make ideal subjects for incendiary bombs. For further details, see Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle and the boys who helped bomb Tokyo.

17 Major Volcanoes

Japan's 17 major volcanoes, many still active, are less promising for the United Nations. Their shadows fall principally on rural communities of little wartime importance and they are unpredictable.

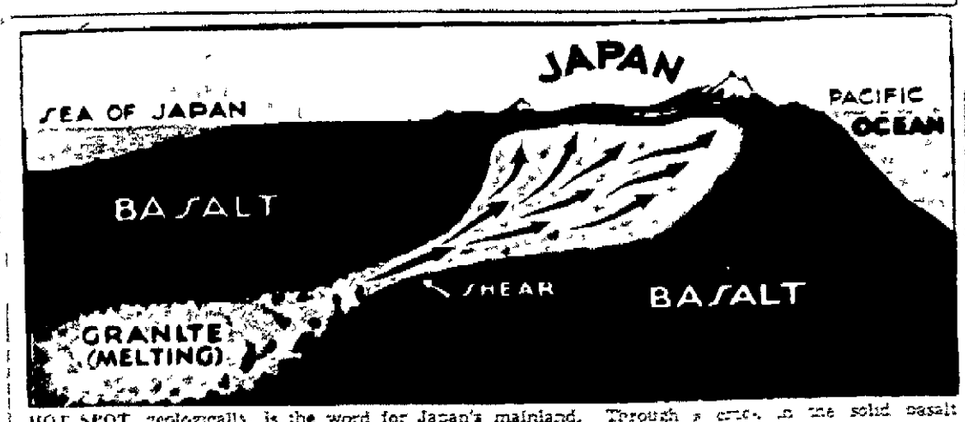
That is why Japan's little people always eye their towering mountains, like "extinct" Fujiyama's 12,395 foot cone. Bandai-san also was supposed to be extinct when it broke its long quiescence in 1888. Lava, earth avalanches and rock falls buried four hamlets, partially destroyed seven villages, killed 461 and devastated 27 square miles.

Can't Rush Nature

Armchair generals have been wondering whether American bombers could not artificially stir Japan's volcanoes into anti-Axis-action with some well-placed bombs. Father Lynch set his staff to work and decided it could not be done.

"The forces that cause volcanoes have been working for centuries," Father Lynch explained. "A few tons of dynamite in comparison would have no effect upon them."

The Army did not make these inquiries. "They have better places to drop their bombs," Father Lynch said. "than on volcanoes."



HOT SPOT, geologically, is the word for Japan's mainland. Through a crack in the solid basalt layer melting granite is forcing its way upward, exerting pressure that may cause earthquakes. This may be the force pushing the Pacific ocean coastline steadily upward.

POLICEMAN SLAIN IN NORWOOD ROBBERY

Battles Holdup Man Despite Three Gun Wounds.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 9—Norwood and Cincinnati police hunted today for a young man who fired three .45-caliber shots into Sergeant Anthony Overberg, 38, wounding him fatally, in a drug store the officer had been assigned to guard against holdup.

Overberg, father of two children, died shortly before midnight last night, weakened both by loss of blood, and by his futile effort to hold the slayer despite his wounds.

Police Chief Charles Fritz had stationed Overberg and nine other policemen in plain clothes in various stores about Norwood in an effort to combat a wave of robberies. Overberg apparently was the victim of a pre-arranged signal with the proprietor, Howard J. Lawson.

Lawson told police the robber entered the store about 11 p. m. and demanded the money in the cash register. When he also asked for the contents of the safe, Lawson told him, loudly enough for Overberg to hear in the back room, to get it there.

The robber went back shooting. Overberg staggered with slugs in his chest, groin, and right leg, but jumped at the assailant and managed to wrest away his gun.

But he was weakened from loss of blood, and the robber seized the officer's gun, broke clear, and fled.

CHINESE CO-ED A DEPUTY

WACO, Tex.—Mae Chung Ginn Ng (you pronounce it with a grunt) is a deputy of Constable Homer Casey of McLennan county. Casey gave the Chinese co-ed in Baylor university the deputy's commission after he heard her speak at a Waco business men's club. He drove her home after the meeting and asked her a few questions. She received his letter of appointment the following day. Miss NG, born of Chinese parents in Virginia, went to China for her education but was driven from Canton in 1937 by Japanese bombs.

Foster Father Of Nine in War Drops Pension for Job

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 9.—A Spanish-American war veteran with nine foster sons in this country's armed forces voluntarily gave up his old age pension today to help the war effort.

"I couldn't sit around and let other people do it," the 69-year-old Ottawa county man wrote to the state division of aid for the aged. He explained that current business conditions enabled him to become self-supporting, "letting a younger man be free to engage in defense work."

The division, although withholding the man's name, said investigation showed that the bachelor had reared nine orphan boys and that all had joined the armed forces, eight enlisting.

Acting Chief Karl R. Babb said the man or learned that the veteran was one of 24 survivors of the Independent Volunteers commanded by Colonel (later President) Theodore Roosevelt, who stormed San Juan Hill in Cuba.

Wounded by a bayonet thrust through one lung and with other injuries the old man was unable to get a government pension because the volunteers were not a part of the U. S. army, Babb said.

Business reverses led him to go state aid when he reached the statutory eligible age of 65.

Scarcity of lumber in Europe has developed new interest in the problem of reducing wood waste.

Marion, Morral and Galion Men Among Ohioans Granted Patents

C. E. Gifford, John F. Harrison, Harry A. Hall and Franklin E. Arndt Listed as Inventors.

Morral and Galion men ... Ohioans who recently ... patents by the United ... Patent office, according ... Press report from ...

C. E. Gifford of Marion ... F. Harrison of Springfield, ... granted a patent on a ... Harry A. Hall of ... southwest of Morral, ... device; Franklin E. ... Galion, spreader. ... patented by Mr. ... chief engineer at the ... Co., and Mr. Harrison formerly with the company, ... on a farm tractor, to be used as a part of the tractor, Mr. Gifford said. In the past, when the tractor was stopped the attached machinery also stopped. With the power take-off attachment, the machinery can be kept in motion when the tractor stops. Since the war effort has curtailed the manufacturing of farm machinery, the device will not be manufactured until after the emergency, when it will go into production at the Huber Co., according to Mr. Gifford.

Mr. Hall said the device which he patented has been five years in perfecting. It is an attachment principally for combines to pick up grain. He conceived the idea while working in his own fields. He is undecided about manufacturing the device.

Following are other Ohioans who were granted patents:

HIGH COURT SPLIT ON OHIO LIQUOR LAW

Rules 4 to 2 Against Section of State Regulations.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 9—By a quirk of the Ohio constitution the supreme court judges yesterday held a section of the state liquor law valid, though four judges termed it unconstitutional.

As a result of the decision Joseph Chester must stand trial in the east Cleveland municipal court on a charge of carrying an opened whisky bottle into the premises of a state permit holder.

The municipal court had dismissed the charge on grounds the law was unconstitutional in that it was not specific in declaring the bottle must contain liquor. The law merely says an "opened container."

Chester contended that a person would be guilty under the law if he brought an opened milk bottle into the premises.

The Cuyahoga county appellate court reversed the municipal court and held the law valid.

The supreme court today affirmed the appellate court by the two to four decision. The constitutional provision that to have reversed the appellate court six judges would have had to concur.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt and Judge Roy H. Williams held that the law was valid, while Judges Edward C. Turner, Edward S. Matthias, W. L. Hart and Charles B. Zimmerman voted the section was unconstitutional. Judge Gilbert Bettman did not participate.

The tribunal also upheld a state tax department ruling that slot machines are taxable as personal property.

war captured in Mexico and now is held at Hartford, Conn., under $50,000 bail on a charge of espionage. Also held at Hartford in $7,500 bail was Wilbur V. Keegan, former Bund counsel.

The indictments against Keegan and 25 of the 28 others arrested Tuesday charged conspiracy to evade the selective service act, conspiracy to counsel bund members to resist service in the U. S. armed forces or conspiracy to conceal Bund membership in registering as aliens.

In New York, seven of those under indictment, including Gustav Elmer, Bund national treasurer, pleaded innocent before Federal Judge George Sweeney and were held in bonds totaling $85,000.

An eighth, John August Grill, pleaded guilty and Judge Sweeney postponed his sentencing until after the trial of the seven others, set for July 28.

15 Women Held

Fifteen women were among the 24 prisoners taken in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Long Island communities and in New Jersey.

Armed with presidential warrants issued through the Attorney General's office in Washington, FBI agents under E. E. Conroy, assistant FBI director in charge of the Newark, N. J., and New York City offices, reported 12 arrests throughout New Jersey and seizure of firearms, ammunition, radios, photographic equipment, field glasses and Nazi propaganda.

P. E. Foxworth, local FBI chief, said that one of the 72 persons seized around New York City by his men was in possession of a complete U. S. army uniform.

Foxworth indicated that more arrests were expected in the widespread drive.

Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). WALLACE CIRCUS TO SHOW HERE JULY 17

Traveling Both on Train and Motor Trucks.

The Wallace Bros. circus, first big show of its kind to play Marion this season, will be at the Drake lot on East Fairground street Friday, July 17.

Announcement of the circus date was made today upon completion of arrangements by James M. Beach, publicity agent, who arrived here last night.

Three herds of elephants are traveling with the circus this year, according to the advance agent.

The circus will come to Marion from Sandusky and will play on July 18 in Kokomo, Ind.

Geared to cope with war transportation problems, the circus has divided its transportation facilities this year. The elephants, horses, menagerie animals and some of the star performers travel by train.

The tents, seats, cooking outfit and the majority of the entainers travel in 48 large semi-trailer trucks. This plan was evolved, Mr. Beach said today, in order that the big tent seating 9,000, the sideshow area and the menagerie can be up and ready the instant the railroad trains arrive. With precedence given materials for war, there has been at least one occasion so far this season when the circus trains arrived a matter of 15 minutes ahead of the matinee performance time, he said.

COMPROMISE OFFERED IN FARM FUND DISPUTE

Group Proposes 10 Per Cent Parity Loans On 6 Crops.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9 — A compromise once rejected by house members was advanced again today by senator, seeking to end the congressional disagreement over the $680,000,000 agriculture appropriations bill.

Disclosing that house conferees once had turned down the proposal by a 5 to 3 vote, Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) said the senate group would suggest when the conference committee meets again that a directive be written into the appropriations bill for 100 per cent parity loans on six major crops.

Parity is a price calculated to give farmers a comparable return with past periods, usually 1909-14. A loan of this nature would total $1.34 a bushel on wheat and 97.6 cents on corn, the two chief crops now selling on the farm below parity.

Bankhead said he and other senators had agreed to abandon a senate amendment authorizing the commodity credit corporation to sell up to 125,000,000 bushels of wheat for livestock feed at about 83 cents a bushel, if the house group would agree to the parity loans and drop a house amendment prohibiting the CCC from selling government-held grain at less than full parity prices.

TRIAL

taking up the recital of their recent activities.

All of them were in this country for considerable periods before returning to Germany, attending the Nazi school of sabotage, and boarding U-boats from which they landed in rubber boats, with a fortune in American currency and quantities of explosives, on Long Island and Florida beaches.

They were arrested soon afterward by agents of the federal bureau of investigation. Their apprehension prompted the Senate juriciary committee today to approve the award of an "appropriate medal of honor" to J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI.

Secrecy and unusually heavy and well-armed guards were the first order of the trial. The men were lodged several days ago in the District of Columbia jail, and a military detail assigned to walk post about it. Yesterday they were loaded into two huge black vans and taken to the justice department building. Police lined the route and the vans were followed closely by an armored scout car with its machine guns at the ready.

It was assumed that one or more guards were assigned to each prisoner, for otherwise all eight could have easily been accommodated in one vehicle.

The vans entered the flagged courtyard in the center of the block-square justice department building through a seldom-used gate and the prisoners were unloaded in the basement of the building, surrounded by troops. Then they were taken by a private elevator to the fifth floor. The trial is being held in what is customarily an FBI classroom.

Elmer Davis, director of the new office of war information, proposed to arrange limited coverage of the trial by the press but this was vetoed on the ground that much of the testimony would touch on highly secret military information. Davis then proposed to have a member of his staff in the courtroom to furnish a censored account of the proceedings but this plan also was rejected.

Davis was represented by associates, who declined to permit use of their names, as apprehensive lest a star-chamber trial afford propaganda for the controlled radio and press of Axis countries and furnish a precedent for subsequent spy and sabotage cases.

In addition to Haupt, the prisoners are George John Dasch, Edward John Kerling, Ernest Peter Burger, Henry Harm Heinck, Werner Thiel, Richard Quirin and Hermann Otto Neubauer.

Just after the luncheon recess yesterday a man carrying an enameled pan such as those used in the FBI laboratory entered the trial corridor. He was followed later by four men in coast guard uniforms.

The first-day sessions totaled five hours, beginning at 10 a. m. and ending at 4.30 p. m., with an hour and a half recess for lunch. It was understood that this would be the daily schedule.

Asked to estimate the time which would be required for the trial, Attorney General Biddle said, "probably most of the week."

The prisoners were taken back to the jail at the end of the day but some of the witnesses and presumably a considerable number of guards appeared to be spending the night in the justice building.

A group of army officials participating in the trial were luncheon guests of Biddle in his large office. Some other participants remained in the trial room area and had their lunch sent up from the department cafeteria.

Biddle told reporters he was unable to comment on the proceedings because Gen. McCoy had ordered secrecy. He added facetiously:

"I don't want to be court-martialed."

The attorney general apologized to newspaper men for refusing them information, commenting that "this was not my idea."

War Calls Likely To Thin Ranks Of Marion Physicians in Near Future

At Least Seven May Be Called Into Service; Men in Other Lines of Work Also Mentioned.

Marion faces an inroad on the ranks of its physicians in the next few weeks.

Since a war department announcement of several weeks ago to the effect that the army's growing need for physicians must be met, names of at least a half dozen doctors have been mentioned prominently as among those who may go into service shortly.

There have been no official announcements nor have the physicians received formal notices, but among those who have been mentioned are Dr. Floyd Yeager, Dr. Frederick Rea, Dr. Jay L. Plymale, Dr. William A. Pennington, Dr. Richard L. Morgan, who is Marion county's coroner, Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, the city health commissioner, and Dr. R. L. Gettman.

Floyd Browne, sanitary engineer, and Marion County Treasurer Marion E. Hinklin are two more about whom there is speculation.

George D. Hildebrandt, commander of the civilian military training program, has come in for a full share of mention as among the men who may be called into service "any day now."

There are only a few, if any, reserve officers left in Marion, subject to call.

Capt. E. L. Hill goes to Fort Hayes Friday. Capt. Paul Lawver reported at Camp Perry on Tuesday.

Lt. Col. E. H. Slade has been Fifth Corps area chemical warfare officer for 20 months. Capt. L. H. Larsen has been at Fort Knox, Ky., for a year.

J. W. Llewellyn, insurance agent, and County Clerk of Courts Elmer E. Smith resigned their commissions in the reserves. However, the county clerk is slated to be called for service again soon, he said the other day, and that's the only positive statement among all the rumors.

Time and Supply Factors Seen As Crucial Elements

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Hitler is taking advantage of the absence of a second front in Europe to press his assault against the Russian front, says the Communist organ Izvestia in Moscow, but the paper squares its shoulders and adds proudly that "every month we are receiving more materiel and arms from England and the United States."

There we have on thumb-nail the elements of the Allied problem in this white-hot crisis upon which hangs our fate. A second front would represent military might in action. Undelivered war materiel represents military might in the potential—in convoys on submarine infested seas, or struggling over bomb-torn roads to try to reach the battle-front.

Can we hold the enemy until we can turn our potential striking power into actual force? That is the crux of our problem, and it isn't new. We've known all along that we had to tread the valley of dangers this summer.

If the pressure on the Russians becomes greater than they can withstand, the Allies may be impelled to take a chance and attempt to establish a second front. Hitler must be stopped.

Pending the translation of resources into this sort of offensive action, the movement of supplies to hard-pressed Russia is vital. If the Reds had all the equipment they need they would be wiping their boots on Hitler's flying coat-tails right now. But they haven't got it, and the Nazi chief is capitalizing on this weakness.

Herr Hitler is employing a double-barreled strategy, trying to sever the Soviet's sources of supplies, and get fresh supplies for himself. That's a shrewd scheme, for it's calculated to hamstring the Bolshevists even if the invaders don't succeed in breaking through to the Caucasus and Middle East and winning the war this year. This would relieve the pressure on Hitler's eastern front and enable him to get set for the opening of that second Allied front which must come sooner or later.

and wharves at the Yangtze port and left eight fires blazing in the target area.

Two days earlier, on the Fourth of July, White Cloud airdrome near Canton was the target and several Japanese planes were destroyed aground. The July 2 raid was on Japanese wharves and warehouses at Hankow "with probable damage to enemy shipping in that area."

Confirming the loss on July 1 of the last 30-mile foothold on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, a Chinese army spokesman said that enemy attempts to pocket large Chinese forces were frustrated.

He added that the Japanese used 30,000 troops in their final effort but said that the Chinese had withdrawn westward and now were fighting in the Yu Hua mountains.

Simultaneously the Japanese said their new offensive in southeastern Chekiang province had resulted in occupation of the town of Hukowshih, 11 miles southeast of Lishui on the Wu river.

SCRAP RUBBER TOTAL NOW 315,000 POUNDS

Marion County Is 7½ Tons Over Quota.

A total of 6,173 pounds of rubber was collected yesterday by Marion county scrap rubber drive agencies, hiking the county's grand total to 315,005 pounds—seven and a half tons over the 150-ton Marion county quota.

Of yesterday's collection, 248 pounds was donated and 5,925 pounds was purchased at a penny a pound rate by service stations.

The drive originally scheduled to end July 1 was continued for 10 days by President Roosevelt because of poor showings in some sections of the country. Although the drive officially ends tomorrow local agencies are planning to continue to puchase or accept rubber as long as a serious shortage exists.

Navy Reports Sinking of Another Jap Ship

WASHINGTON, July 9—Another Japanese destroyer was believed today to have been sunk by a United States submarine in the Aleutian area, where mist and fog has hampered attempts to oust the Japanese from their island toeholds.

The navy reported in a communique last night that the destroyer was torpedoed and believed sunk in the vicinity of Kiska island July 5. This brought the damage inflicted by American undersea craft in the Aleutians to five Japanese destroyers sunk or hit in two days. Three were sunk and a fourth was left burning fiercely on July 4.

ALCOA TO BUILD PLANT MILL IN LICKING COUNTY

Construction of $22,000,000 Plant To Start Immediately.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—The Aluminum Co. of America will construct a $22,000,000 aluminum rod and bar mill at Heath, Licking county, Ohio, Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R) of West Lafayette, O., reported today.

McGregor said he was informed construction, authorized by the war production board, would start immediately and that the plant, to be located on a 50-acre site, would begin production next spring.

Alcoa officials plan the unit as a permanent plant employing about 3,000 persons, McGregor said he was told.

College Students To Receive Loans from Government

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—The government opened its purse today for loans to more than 10,000 college students — men and women—seeking technical or professional degrees in six specified fields, to make certain their education is completed quickly and applied to the war effort.

Congress provided $5,000,000 for this means of obtaining urgently needed persons trained in engineering, physics, chemistry, medicine and pharmacy.

The United States office of education said loans would be made to students needing assistance, who are registered in accelerated programs in degree-granting colleges and universities and whose technical or professional education in these fields can be completed within two years.

Students obtaining loans must agree in writing: 1—to participate, until otherwise directed by the chairman of the war manpower commission, in accelerated programs of study in any of the authorized fields; and 2—"to engage for the duration of the wars in which the United States is now engaged, in such employment or service as may be assigned by officers or agencies designated by the chairman of the war manpower commission."

Under the accelerated programs students will go to school 12 months a year—no vacations.

Loans will be made, the education office said, in amounts not exceeding tuition and fees plus $25 a month, and not exceeding $500 for any one student during any 12-month period.

The loans, beginning as soon as they can be arranged, will be made directly through colleges, universities or public or college-connected agencies.

Notes will be made by students payable to the United States treasury, at interest of 2½ per cents.

The indebtedness of a student will be cancelled: 1—if before completing his course he is ordered into military service under the selective service act; or 2—if he suffers total and permanent disability; or 3—in case of death.

To continue receiving loans until they obtain degrees, the students must "maintain satisfactory standards of scholarship."

POSSIBLE WAR DELAY EFFORTS INVESTIGATED

Ohio Draft Officials Cite Possible Enemy Agent Activities.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July —State selective service headquarters investigated today two possible attempts of enemy agents to disrupt war operations on Ohio fronts.

Edward S. Neese, chief of inspectors, said mysterious telephone calls purporting to be from draft boards had taken away from factory benches men who found on reporting that draft boards had not called them.

Such a movement on a large scale might impair war production efforts, officials said, emphasizing that draft boards do not summon registrants for questioning or induction by telephone. All such work is done by mail. Neese advised registrants to ignore telephone calls supposedly from selective service boards.

Draft officials also are investigating excessive losses of registration cards by men subject to service in the armed forces. Card losses have been unusually heavy in one metropolitan district, Neese reported, adding that anyone reporting his card lost would be quizzed closely.

War Dept. Organizes Air Evacuation Group

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—Secretary of War Stimson announced today that the air transport command, which since June 1941 has delivered more than 6,000,000 letters and large quantities of supplies to soldiers overseas, now is forming an organization to bring the sick and wounded back from combat zones.

To be known as the air evacuation group (medical), the new organization will use transport planes equipped as flying hospitals for surgery, blood transfusions and other treatment. The planes will be able to carry as many as 40 patients.

One of the principal functions of the transport command has been to deliver bombers to war theaters, and Stimson said the same planes always go out with a full load, mail being given a high priority rating.

OHIO FARMERS BUILD WHEAT STORAGE BINS

Hurry To Make Space for Unusually Early Harvest.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 9—Ohio farmers are building wooden storage bins for wheat today as they hurry to complete the earliest harvest in years.

July Fourth found much of the state wheat crop already in shocks although that date usually signals start of cutting. Farm experts explained that weather conditions rushed the season, although the same factor has delayed corn and hay crops.

June rainfall averaged 4.24 inches in Ohio, above normal for the month but not enough to bring the six-month total up to normal. The deficiency to July 1 was 1.43 inches, the U. S. weather bureau reported.

Not enough new wheat has moved to market to provide an accurate estimate of its quality, but first receipts were reported damp.

With available storage space reported only one-fourth sufficient for the current wheat crop, the agriculture extension service at Ohio State university sent requested blueprints for wooden granaries to more than 700 Ohio farmers.

Lumber companies said many farmers were building temporary bins to hold wheat which cannot be received at elevators, already crammed with previous surpluses.

Ohio produced 48,978,000 bushels of wheat last year, an average of 25 bushels per acre. A decrease in acreage and an expected drop in production to 22 bushels an acre will make the 1942 crop only about 39,150,000 bushels, the federal crop reporting service said.

Vitamins in Vegetables

THREE V's—Vitamins, vegetables and victory.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor

Let's be vitamin-conscious on the home front!

Vitamin A stands for milk, be it delivered to you, bought in the store or moped at your door. If your family balks at milk cocktails, fool them by using it in delicious creamed vegetables.

Rich in important minerals as well as essential vitamins are the fresh vegetables now abundant in the market or in your Victory garden. Onions, now plentiful and cheap, are delicious served creamed, as are spinach and asparagus.

Broccoli, another vitamin-rich "best buy," can be prepared with a few variations. Sauces such as lemon, hollandaise and hot lemon mayonnaise supply flavor as well as vitamin C.

MASHED POTATOES WITH CHEESE: 8 medium potatoes (about 1 quart mashed); 1¼ cups hot milk; 4 tablespoons butter, melted; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 1 cup finely sliced or grated American cheese. Cook potatoes, drain and shake well to dry thoroughly. Mash; add butter and seasonings. Beat thoroughly, add hot milk, a little at a time. Fold in cheese. Place pan of potatoes over a pan of hot water to keep hot until ready to serve. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

CREAMED ONIONS: 2 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 12 small onions, cooked. Melt butter, blend in flour. Add milk, salt and pepper and stir constantly until thickened, cook 5 minutes over very low heat stirring occasionally. Pour over boiled onions, sprinkle with paprika.

LEMON BUTTER SAUCE: 4 tablespoons butter, melted; 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Melt butter, combine with lemon juice and pour over cooked broccoli or asparagus arranged in serving dish.

HOT LEMON MAYONNAISE: Combine three parts mayonnaise with one part lemon juice. Heat in top of double boiler. Serve hot over broccoli.

BROCCOLI: Choose tender, firm stalks with compact buds. Cook in salted water. When tender, drain.

Some Cold Soups for Hot Weather

By ALICE DENHOFF

Some like it hot, some like it cold! There are epicures who swear that there is nothing like a plate of hot soup to set you up when the temperature gets you down. Then there are gourmets who spend the summer months in search of perfect cold soups as the proper antidote for hot weather discomfort.

With the warm weather here you may want to try out some new recipes for cold soups and jellied consommes.

Have you ever served a cold orange soup? It is full of vitamins and nutrition and makes a perfect first course for a duck or chicken dinner. In England housewives serve a delicious clear carrot soup that is good either hot or cold. As a prelude to a seafood dinner serve a beautiful pale green watercress soup. Sprinkle fruit soups with finely chopped mint to give color to clear consommes with lemon segments dipped in chopped parsley.

To make cold orange soup, dissolve tablespoon gelatin in ¼ cup hot water, then add ¾ cup cold water, 2 cups orange juice, ¼ cup lemon juice, tablespoon lime juice and ¼ cup sugar or honey. Chill several hours and before serving add one cup diced oranges. Serve with finely chopped mint.

Watercress Soup

Cold cream of watercress soup is as eye-appealing as it is delicious. Wash and chop 2 bunches of cress. Add to 3 cups of veal stock or chicken consumme and cook for 10 minutes. Strain through a fine sieve or cloth. Melt 4 tablespoons butter, add 4 tablespoons flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add the strained stock and cook for 5 minutes. Add one cup heavy cream, ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper, and tint a soft green with vegetable coloring. Chill for several hours, and serve with finely chopped chives. Iced clam bisque is another excellent soup. Wash 24 soft-shelled clams and put in a kettle with ¼ cup water. Cover and boil until the shells open. Remove clams from shells, chop finely and add to liquor. Chop an onion fine, add, and simmer for 15 minutes. Scald a quart of milk, thicken with 2 tablespoons cornstarch diluted with 2 tablespoons cold water. Cook 10 minutes and add the clam water strained through double thicknesses of cheesecloth. Season with salt and pepper and serve topped with a spoonful of whipped cream and sprinkled with finely chopped parsley.

Family of 8 Reunited First Time in 4 Years

The Fourth of July week-end holiday made possible the homecoming of all eight children of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Trefz of east of Waldo for the first time in more than four years.

Present, besides the parents, were the following: Private First Class Paul E. Trefz of East St. Louis, Ill.; Lieutenant Margaret Trefz of the Salvation Army of LaPorte, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. George Trefz and son Tommy of Lakewood, O.; Mr. and Mrs. John Wright and children Harold and Delores of Radnor; Miss Charlotte Trefz of Marion; John Trefz of Lorain; and James and Frederick Trefz at home.

Due to the fact that certain members of the family are in defense work, one is in military service, with the resulting conflicts in time schedules, the reunion lasted only one hour.

Marion Co. Youth In Air Training Program

Willis G. Milliser Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Milliser of LaRue, Wednesday began an eight-week period of civilian pilot training in Mansfield as an enlisted man in the navy air corps.

Milliser, a graduate of the LaRue High school in 1939, was sworn in two weeks ago at Columbus. After the training at Mansfield he will go to the University of Iowa for further training. He has been employed at the Scioto Ordnance Plant area.

He is the second member of the family to enter service.

His brother, Tech. Sgt. Irvin Milliser, stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., returned to duty yesterday after an eight-day furlough. The only girl in the family of 11, Miss Betty Milliser, who is in nurses training at Grant hospital in Columbus, spent the week-end at home.

Army Air Transports Fly Five Million Miles

By The Associated Press

MELBOURNE, July 9—The United States army air transport service was disclosed today to have flown 5,000,000 miles in the past five months to rush vital equipment and personnel to strategic points on the Australian front.

This is a service whose things often must be done in a hurry. Yet only one plane has been lost that by an accident.

In one instance, it was called on to transport a complete artillery battery — men, guns, equipment and ammunition—to a vital area hundreds of miles away. The haul involved 500,000 pounds.

It was finished in a fraction of the time that overland transport would have taken.

Now Mrs. Jack Spratt Is Told To Save Her Fat

By MARGARET KERNODLE
Wide World Features Writer

WASHINGTON — Two pounds of fat furnish enough glycerine for five anti-tank shells. Every time collecting grease from the kitchen puts it out of the way it goes into the firing line.

Two pounds of fat make about a pound of glycerine, and 860 pounds of glycerine make one ton of nitroglycerine. It takes about 3½ pounds of dynamite to blast a hole in the ground. That's the reason your kitchen fat can be an arsenal when you save it.

Even tiny scraps like bacon grease and salt them to your butcher. (Prices vary in different parts of the country.)

Out in Chicago, housewives have 75,000 pound of fats a week in an experimental campaign. Now the government is extending the salvage of fats to everybody's kitchen to collect 500,000,000 pounds in a campaign starting early in July.

Here are the reasons:

War in the Pacific reduced imports of fats and oils. The Philippines furnished one-third of our imports of both edible and inedible fats.

In 1941 the U. S. used about eleven billion pounds of fats and oils. War needs of the United States and its allies are 12 billion pounds.

America is said to waste two billion pounds of reclaimable fats in the kitchen each year. Meat experts say the average cook wastes half the fat content of beef and veal, four-fifths of mutton and lamb, three-fifths of pork and a fourth of the poultry fat.

If you want to do something about this, clip the following notice from the War Production Board:

* * *

Save Waste Fats and Grease

WHAT:

1. Pan drippings from roast ham, beef, lamb, poultry.
2. Broiler drippings from steak, chops, veal and bacon.
3. Deep frying fats (animal or vegetable) from fried potatoes, fish, doughnuts, etc.

HOW:

1. Strain fat into clean, wide-mouthed can through fine mesh or cloth strainer to keep out meat particles, etc.
2. Keep can of grease in refrigerator or other cool place until one pound (no less) is collected.

WHERE:

Take one pound or more to your butcher, who will weigh it and pay an established price for it.

DON'TS

Don't take less than one pound to the butcher.

Don't take it on week-ends, when he is the busiest.

Don't use glass or paper containers. (They want to process the fat right in the container, and only metal ones are suitable.)

Don't let fats get rancid and thereby destroy glycerine content.

Fine Gravies That Win Reputations for Cooks

By BETSY NEWMAN

Good rich, brown gravy is one of our favorite dishes here in the United States, although it very seldom makes the headlines. It may be pan gravy is tops with some, thickened gravy with others; cream gravy with still others. But good gravy of any kind will help a lot to win a reputation for a cook. Many a person passes the plate at dinner, not for a second helping of meat or vegetables, raw or cooked, but for "a little more potato and some of that good gravy, please."

Today's Menu

Rolled Rump Pot Roast
Boiled Potatoes Brown Gravy
Cabbage and Orange Salad
Rennet Bread Pudding Beverage

Rolled Rump Pot-Roast

Three to 4 lb. rolled rump roast, salt, pepper, 2 tbsps. lard or other fat, 1½ cups water, 2 tbsps. flour, 10 medium-sized onions, 10 medium-sized carrots.

Chuck, plate or heel of round can be used in place of rump for this pot-roast. Season meat with salt and pepper and brown well on all sides in Dutch oven or heavy kettle, then add hot water and cover tightly. Cook at simmering temperature until meat is tender, from 2 to 3½ hours, add carrots and onions during last hour of cooking. Take meat and vegetables from kettle, strain off all but 2 tablespoons fat in pan, add 2 tablespoons flour, mix smooth, gradually add hot water, taking it off the fire while you mix it smooth. As a general thing the browned meat will make the gravy sufficiently brown, so be sure to brown the meat all over very well. If the gravy looks pale, brown the flour and fat well before adding the water. If you like tomato gravy, add tomato juice to the fat and flour, after browning, instead of the water. Use vegetable juice from straining of boiled vegetables instead of plain hot water in making gravy, so as to save all the desirable food elements in the water instead of wasting them.

Cabbage Orange Salad

One small, crisp head cabbage, 1 orange, salad dressing.

Shred cabbage and toss lightly together with sections of orange and salad dressing, which should be rather tart. Grapefruit, fresh or canned, may be used in place of oranges.

Rennet Bread Pudding

One pkg. lemon rennet, 1 pt. milk, raisins, butter, 2 slices bread, ¼ inch thick, sugar and cinnamon.

Remove crusts from bread, butter lightly and cut in small cubes. Divide cubed bread among dessert dishes and add a few seeded raisins. Warm milk to lukewarm, not hot; remove from fire, add lemon rennet, stir 1 minute, until dissolved, and pour over bread. Let stand in warm room until firm. Sprinkle with mixture of sugar and cinnamon just before serving.

START FLAG CRUSADE

By International News Service

LONDON—In an effort to foster permanent friendship and understanding between the youth of the United Nations after the war, a special world-wide "flag crusade" is being arranged between Worthing (Surrey) Youth Organizations and foreign embassies in London. Each of the Allied countries is sending a national flag to Worthing to be kept in a place of honor until the end of the war. When peace is restored each flag is to be taken back to the country's capital by delegates of local youth movements.

2,500 See Richwood Horse Win Free-for-All Pace

3-Year-Old Pace Stake Heads Tonight's Speed Card.

By LORIN W. TIBBALS
Marion Star Sports Editor

JIMMY STATELY, a brown gelding owned by M. J. Baker of Ancarum, Ohio, and driven by Tom Carlock copped the $600 featured stake race for 2:17 pacers on last night's ninth Little Grand Circuit harness racing card, witnessed by an estimated 2,500 persons at the county fairground track.

The big gelding captured the initial mile go in 2:07½, a new low time for the current meet, and lapped the second mile in 2:06½, a full second slower than his initial mile but a half-second above the previous low mark. The Walnut Ashe, owned by C. H. Bowen of Columbus and driven by Ernie Smith of Washington C. H., won the third heat in 2:09¼, with Jimmy Stately finishing a half-length behind in second place.

Gallon Horse Places

Princess Mack, a bay mare owned and driven by Val Grandstaff of Gallon finished 3-4-3 in the same race.

Merry Mite, a bay mare owned by Ralph Lenox of Richwood and driven by Byron Perry, won the free-for-all pacing event. The Richwood - owned mare was clocked at 2:08 for the first mile and 2:08¼ for the second. Betty M., a bay mare owned by the Saunders Mills stables of Cleveland and driven by Jake Mahoney of Indianapolis, copped the third heat in 2:09¼.

Lillian Peters, a bay mare owned by A. G. Gordon of Washington C. H. and driven by Joe Gordon also of Washington C. H., won the 2:28 trotting contest with wins in the final two heats.

The second and third heats of the race provided an interesting angle when Joe Gordon handed Lillian Peters to owner-driver A. G. Gordon while Ila Reynolds, owned by his brother, Joe, second. The two mares finished close in the first heat while Lillian Peters was fourth. Patricia G., owned by W. C. Keenan of Akron and driven by Bennett, was the first heat winner.

3-Year-Old Pace Tonight

The three-year-old pace stake highlights tonight's card. Several horses which already have appeared in earlier programs are slated to start this event. In a similar race last Saturday night, T. J. Van, Hustler and Joe C. Abbe were heat winners. These and five other leading mounts have been nominated in tonight's stake race.

List of entries in tonight's program is as follows:

2:17 trot ($300)—Sammy Boy, by Sam Rotan (Sturgeon); Hal Harvester, by Jerry Harvester (Boyer); Buena, by Scotland (Mahoney); Conchita, by Protector (Smith); Calumet Dawn, by Belwin (Ford); Worthy Dillon, by Joe Dillon (Perry); and Joy Win, by Win Volo (Vallery).

TWO-YEAR-OLD STAKE RACE UP FOR DECISION AT GOSHEN TODAY

By The Associated Press

GOSHEN, N. Y., July 9—The Village Farm stake, a $7,675 event for two-year-old pacers, will be the feature of the Grand Circuit program at Goshen raceway today.

Thirteen juniors were named for the stake, necessitating two elimination heats, under the rules of the state racing commission. Widow's Pride, a stake winner here last week in the Vic Fleming stable, is the favorite.

Austin Hanover, owned by T. G. Graney of Sparkill, N. Y., and driven by Fred Brooks, won yesterday's feature, the $1,500 Chester stake for junior trotters.

Erie Mid-Atlantic Nine Cuts Charleston's Lead

By The Associated Press

ERIE, Pa., July 9—Second place Erie cut loop-leading Charleston's Mid-Atlantic league edge to four games last night, defeating the Senators 3-2. Earlier, the Cleveland Indians walloped Erie 10 to 1 in an exhibition game.

Dayton defeated Canton 6 to 3 and took over fourth place from the Terriers, while Zanesville and Springfield split a double-header, Springfield taking the opener 1-0 and the Cubs the second 12 to 10.

NEW YORK, July 9—One story hereabouts is that Clark Griffith isn't worrying about being turned down in his bid for all night games, because there's nothing to keep him from starting them by "twilight" and turning on the lights after a couple of innings. . .Word from the war department is that skeet shooting won't conflict with the war effort. HAWKS WIN, 5 TO 4, OVER GALION TEAM

Fritz Walters Injured in Player Collision.

The Marion Hawks notched their third straight win over the Galion Jaycees, 5-4, on the four-hit pitching of Joe Roseberry last night at Lincoln park. The win gives Marion a 3-2 edge over Galion in games between the two clubs this season.

Feature of the game was Merle "Wimpy" Hilton's four-base clout in the fourth inning. Fritz Walters blasted a triple in the first inning to start the local's scoring drive.

The victory was marred by the injury of Walters, diminutive shortstop, in the seventh inning. He received a minor neck injury in the seventh inning in a collision with Galion Rightfielder Ertley while attempting to make a double play on Ertley at second base.

He was taken to the Marion City hospital in the Boyd & Uncapher ambulance. Hospital attendants described his condition as "good" today.

The major leagues enter the pack stretch of their pennant race today without much to run for except the fun of running.

The circuit's all-star shows, which raised $1,000,000 for the baseball equipment fund for servicemen, $7,000,000 for army and navy relief and $50,000,000 in war savings stamps marked the approximate halfway point in the schedule.

At the starting gate the Brooklyn Dodgers were a full games in front of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National league and the world's champion New York Yankees had a four-game advantage over the Boston Red Sox in the American.

The issues is apparent to all parties concerned that there no longer is any argument about the eventual pennant winners in either major league.

Whatever chance there was of waylaying the Yankees vanished last week when the champions vanquished the Boston Red Sox in the first two games of a three-game series. This showed that they still are able to suppress all insurgents.

The Dodgers have had their own way virtually from the start of the season.

This situation leaves the other clubs in the big top to find whatever satisfaction they can in scrambling for places in the first division and the fans to turn their attention to the competition for individual honors.

Boudreau to Pitch Smith

If Lou Boudreau's Cleveland Indians intend to make a race of this year they'll have to do better in this new, second half of the season than they have been doing.

The Tribe resumes its regular clashes against the Philadelphia Athletics tonight in third place, seven games behind the Yankees, and trailing Boston by three contests, while holding only a two-game advantage over Detroit.

Since the fifth-place St. Louis Brownies are as far behind the Indians as the Tribesmen are in the rear of New York, there would seem to be little argument about Cleveland's chances of reaching the modest first division goal established last winter by Boudreau who turns 25 this month.

Lefty Al Smith was Boudreau's probable choice to start the eastern invasion with Phil Machildon expected to go for Connie Mack's boys.

Lou collected three hits in five trips to the platter—including a homer with Ray Mack on the sacks—to lead the Indians in a 10-1 triumph over the Erie Mid-Atlantic league clubs before 3,000 fans at Erie yesterday.

Johnny Vander Meer and Whit Wyatt are the likely pitchers as the Cincinnati Reds take on the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first of two successive night games tonight.

Vandy beat the Brooks, 3 to 1, the last time he tried. The teams have to crowd a four-game set into two nights and a day, making a doubleheader Saturday.

ST. PAUL IN 5-2 WIN OVER KANSAS CITY

Clay Smith Fans 9 as Saints Cop Series.

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis pitchers should get a welcome change tonight to the Kansas City Blues whose rest efforts to increase their American association lead at St. Paul's expense ended in a wave of strikeouts.

Bill Swift fanned 10 batters Tuesday night and last night Clay Smith struck out nine more to give St. Paul a 5 to 2 decision and the series, two game to one.

The defeat reduced the Blues' first place margin over idle Columbus to four and a half games.

In the only other game, Toledo got five-hit pitching from Ewell Pyle and defeated Indianapolis 7 to 1.

The Swedish government has prohibited all automobile traffic including motorboats and the sale and use of lubricants to licensing.

The two stars, each with a victory over the other in last year's nationals, will room together at Ohio State, Peppe said.

In reply to a question as to how the swimming future looks, Peppe said:

"Well, we may have worries somewhere along the line, but they won't center around the freestyle events. Those two kids are liable to make a great coach out of me."

Check Draft Status Of 2 Men Held at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, July 9—The draft status of two brothers, Charles Bass, 21 and Louis Bass, 18, who were taken into custody by Bucyrus police Tuesday, is being investigated, police reported today.

The men, arrested at the Bucyrus Livestock barns on complaint of a custodian at the barn, who told police that the men had been sleeping there, are being held in city jail pending the investigation. Neither man had a registration card in his possession.

Angelo To Appear in Armory Mat Show Tonight.

MARTINO ANGELO

Tricky Joe Perona of Boston will attempt to end Russian Ivan Kalmikoff's local victory string in a main-go attraction on tonight's Armory wrestling program.

Two weeks ago the pair met in a preliminary bout which ended in a draw. The first meeting was an evenly-fought contest with neither fighter able to gain a fall. Both grapplers are hard workers in the ring and Perona rates the pre-fight nod mainly on his unusual lasting power.

Rounding out the card, Promoter Les Fishbaugh has signed a pair of 45-minute semi-final features, either of which rates main-go billing.

The opening bout slated to start at 8:30 introduces a new face to the local customers in Buck Lipscomb of Indianapolis. Lipscomb has appeared in feature fights on the Toledo pad in recent weeks. He will face troublesome Jackie Steele, Centerville, Iowa, sensation. Steele has not appeared here in recent weeks, but made several successful appearances in the early spring mat series.

The second 45-minute event matches Axel Madsen, the lanky Danish blond, and Italian Martino Angelo. The former is one of the top stars now working out of the Fishbaugh stable. All of his recent appearances have been marked by brilliant, orthodox ring tactics. It is seldom that local fans have complained of Madsen's performances.

Alger Man Fined for Reckless Driving

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., July 9—Charles Hemmingway of Alger, charged with reckless driving as result of an automobile collision here late in June, yesterday was fined $50 and costs by Justice of Peace Roy Haudensnield. INDIAN LAKE FISHING REPORTED GOOD

Operators of boat liveries at Indian Lake have been interested in first hand proof of some of the good catches being reported at the Lake and, on their own initiative, have kept a census of persons using their boats since April.

This census, while it is similar to those conducted by the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources, was not conducted by the state department but reports reaching Conservation Commissioner Dr. Weirs state that of 795 fishermen checked during the past few months, 12,000 fish of various species were caught.

Lowell E. Bishler, fish management agent, also has compiled an interesting census report on the nine body of water. E. L. Wiehl II, assistant chief of the fish management section, reports that the census for the weeks of June 7-13 and June 14-21 showed that white crappie were still a dominant fish but decreasing in the catch. Other dominant fish were bluegills and channel catfish. The week three the first week were white crappie 40 per cent, bluegills 20 per cent and channel catfish seven per cent, while on the second week crappies remained in first place with 51 per cent of the catches reported by 83 fishermen and channel catfish came into second place with 25 per cent and bluegills in third place with 13 per cent.

NIGHT FISHING PERMITTED IN MUSKINGUM AREA

Night fishing in the Muskingum conservancy lakes is permitted Mark White fish management agent of the conservancy district, reports. Some anglers have had the notion that night fishing was prohibited.

"Anyone may fish all night on any of the Muskingum lakes, either from the shore or from his boat for which he has paid a license fee to the conservancy board," White says. He adds that some fishermen thought that night fishing was prohibited when they were requested to return their boats to the rental liveries by 9 p. m. The reason for this request, he said, was that comparatively few fishermen as yet have learned of the excellent fishing to be enjoyed in the lakes and as a result the demand for boats has not been sufficient to justify the boat livery men keeping their offices open all night. It is quite likely that as the demand for boats increases and more fishermen desire to fish at night, there will be means provided for them to get boats for this purpose.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS FACED IN CRAWFORD CO.

Supt. West Says Rural Condition Is Critical.

BUCYRUS, July 9 — Loss of teachers to higher salaried defense jobs and to the army is causing a shortage in the county schools, Glen C. West, county school superintendent announced today.

Eleven vacancies still exist in the county staff. Nine vacancies have been filled since the opening of school, West stated. All but three of the vacancies are in high schools. Several additional appointments are expected, he said.

EARLY RALLY LIFTS STOCKS

Buying and Selling Flurries Among Liveliest of Year to Date.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 9 — Stocks got back on the recovery track after an early profit taking stumble in today's market and leaders added fractions to around 2 points to Wednesday's upswing.

Both buying and selling flurries were among the liveliest of the year to date, with volume at the rate of some 1,000,000 shares. There were intermittent slowdowns and quotations were a shade under the best.

Steels, motors, aviations and blue chip industrials again were in front. Rails worked up a modest amount of steam.

The extension of the push was negotiated in the fact of somewhat cloudier war news and was attributed partly to inflation thinking although anti-inflation arguments still were plentiful.

Santa Fe hit a new high since 1938. Top levels for the year were posted for General Motors, J. I. Case, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber and U. S. Gypsum. Favored also were U. S. Steel, Douglas Aircraft, DuPont, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Montgomery Ward and Anaconda.

Market followers discerned a moderately hopeful note in the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing that bank clearings in 23 cities during the past week, while slipping under the preceding week's figure because of the July 4 holiday, were 16.9 per cent above a year ago. The Independence Day recession was about half that of the same time last year.

Also cheering was the survey of the Engineering News-Record placing the country's heavy engineering awards for the week ended Tuesday at the second highest aggregate on record. The week's contracts amounted to $401,603,000, an increase of 84½ per cent over the week before and 34 per cent over the like 1941 period.

The dead:

Mrs. Martha Clair, 64, Ambler, Pa.

Miss Mary McCoy, 22, Washington Square, Pa.

Mrs. Bertha Thompson, 80, Line Lexington, Pa.

Mrs. Mollie Dietz, 22, Souderton, Pa.

Harry Shiffer, 47, Allentown.

Miss Catherine L. Nase 23, Lansdale, Pa.

Henry T. Moyer, 46, Souderton, Pa.

Miss Virginia Wickel, 19, North Wales, Pa.

The Lehigh Valley Transit Co., which operates the rail line announced it was investigating to determine the cause of the crash.

Ingersoll Continued in 1-A by Draft Board

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 9—Ralph Ingersoll, 41, editor and publisher of the newspaper PM, is being continued in class 1-A for early induction into the army.

Less than 24 hours after the local draft board reheard the case, Col. Arthur V. McDermott, New York draft director, announced yesterday the board's decision not to defer the editor. No explanation was given for continuing the classification.

The rehearing resulted from a protest telegraphed to the draft authorities in Washington by Marshall Field, owner of PM, who said he considered Ingersoll indispensable to the publication of the newspaper.

ARMY CHIEFTAINS CHECK GLIDER USE

Chief of Staff Visits Ohio To See Mock Attack.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 9 — The United States army's high command checked up on the American air forces' combat glider program today in a surprise visit attesting to the importance attached to this comparatively new method of warfare.

After witnessing a mock capture of huge and vital Wright field last night by a task-force of glider-borne troops, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and numerous other top officers put in a day of inspection and conferences with production and engineering experts at the materiel depot.

General Marshall met Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander of the Caribbean area, who had arrived earlier.

The chief of staff's party included Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, AAF commander; Major Gen. Oliver P. Echols of the materiel command; Brig. Gen. St. Clair Street, AAA deputy chief of operations; and Brig. Gen. David Grant, AAF chief surgeon.

Brig. Gen. W. Vanaman, Wright field commander, conducted today's inspection tour and conferences with the production division and experimental engineering section.

Last night's show, put on without advance notice, included a "battle" between the invading glider troops and the defending ground forces, in which the attackers were declared the winners; and formation flying and spot landings by gliders.

An official release said the gliders behaved with the precision of airplanes and that the maneuvers demonstrated the expanding program of preparing for combat operations with gliders.

TOTAL SHIP TOLL IN ATLANTIC 347

Navy Announces Small Latvian Vessel Sunk June 29.

By The Associated Press

The abduction of their skipper by a German submarine that sank their vessel by placing a time-bomb, below decks was disclosed by survivors of a small Latvian merchantman on landing at an east coast port.

Destruction of the Latvian craft as well as the recent sinking of a Dutch and a Canadian cargo carrier, was announced yesterday by the navy to swell to 347 the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of United and neutral nations' ship losses in the western Atlantic since Dec. 7.

Besides carrying off their captain on learning he could speak German, the 34 crewmen said, the U-boat also picked up and kept prisoner a Spanish seaman who had leaped overboard during the attack June 29. No lives were lost in the sinking.

WHEAT PRICES UP IN RENEWED BUYING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 9 — Renewed buying late in the session today lifted wheat prices more than a cent a bushel to new high for the past six weeks.

Although the market was unsettled much of the time by profit taking and hedging sales, buyers took the leadership after noon. Additional flour business, bringing millers into the market again, as well as expectations of speedy House action on legislation to advance government loan rates on basis commodities to full parity, which already has been passed by the Senate, prompted the upturn. Just before the close the pit was filled with rumors of favorable progress of this legislation in the House and this prompted covering of previous short sales.

Additional purchases of 250,000 barrels of flour by eastern chain bakers brought the week's sales throughout the country to an estimated total of 1,250,000 bushels, largest business in months.

OPA Announces New Ceiling Price Group

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9 — The office of price administration has announced that ceiling prices for frozen fruits and vegetables of the 1942 crop and for jams, jellies and preserves made from the new fruit would be raised shortly.

The ceiling on peanuts and peanut butter may be discarded entirely in September, said the announcement which was issued last night.

A 15 per cent boost in the retail ceiling prices on canned and dried fruits of the 1942 pack already has been announced. Price Administrator Henderson said the increases were made because of the produced price treatment which Congress authorized for farm products and because of his inability to get a subsidy program under which the government would absorb increased costs.

Gelatin

In order to settle an argument which seems to have arisen in a group of my readers, let us state first that gelatin is a food. It is a derivative of ice containing the use of food animals. Nobody knows exactly when gelatin was first introduced, but it was known as far back as the first century when the Chinese were using it.

In 1621 a Frenchman, Papin, in order to try to utilize as much of an animal for food purposes as possible removed jelly from the bones of animals, but the first scientific exploitation of gelatin as a food brings us to one of the greatest physiologists, Carl Voit, who in 1860 showed that gelatin could be used in a diet to spare protein to a greater extent than either fats or carbohydrates.

Today, the preparation of gelatin involves the strictest methods of sanitation and chemical control. In order to make gelatin soluble, over 1,000 pounds of water are used for every pound of gelatin produced. The gelatin solutions are then filtered and concentrated in a vacuum, formed into sheets and dried under carefully regulated air conditions. The purity of the air circulated in the driers is comparable to purity of the air three and one-half miles above sea level.

Gelatin is a form of protein and like all proteins contains nitrogen and possesses colloidal properties. It has been said that all living processes take place in a colloidal medium which gives gelatin its importance in diet.

Nutritional studies have shown that some isolated proteins are extra rich in some essential food elements and are lacking in others. For this reason gelatin is valuable in order to supplement deficiencies that appear in other food products.

Some of the conditions for which gelatin is useful are:

Ulcer of the stomach, or duodenal ulcer—After the period of strict feeding, it has been found that gelatin is very effective for frequent feedings in the management of these conditions because it does not have any irritating properties and has a high nutritional value. It neutralizes and reduces the free acidity of the secretions for 20 minutes to an hour.

Diabetes—Gelatin is useful in the diet of the diabetic because it is free from carbohydrates and allows the preparation of appetizing, nourishing foods in a wide variety of combinations, and in larger portions.

Infant Feeding.—In the problem of artificial feeding of infants in relation to suitably modifying cow's milk gelatin is very useful. It is known that the addition of a protective colloid such as gelatin to milk controls the coagulation of casein, and thus lowers the curd tension during digestion.

Convalescent Diets.—In many convalescent diets the principle object is to produce a diet high in nutritional elements but small in amount. Gelatin is useful as an ingredient of such diets because it allows for both of these possibilities.

Reducing Diets.—In any reducing diet the patient should maintain a daily allowance of protein sufficient to take care of his daily needs. Gelatine produces an easy source of doing this without adding to the calorie intake in a way that no other proteins do without having an extra amount of fat, such as meat, eggs, etc.

Gelatin is easily digestible, non-irritating and therefore can be used in all sorts of convalescent diets and those which have to do with digestive disturbances, such as colitis, intestinal irritation, etc.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. H.—Please give the food value of veal liver. Is one pound per week, small portions each day, all right for a five-year-old child?

Answer: Veal liver contains about 560 calories per pound. The amount you mention is probably good for a child of that age.

T. S.—What does a basal metabolism of plus 25 indicate?

Answer: This is within the upper limits of normal. It is generally considered that minus 25 or plus 25 is not excessive.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

KATHARINE took her fingers from my pulse and looked at me determinedly.

"Your pulse is normal," she said. "Just what happened? Pulse dizziness, or did you feel faint?"

"Just a sudden awful nervousness," I said, mentally whistling my hopes to a shrieky beginning. "I didn't feel faint."

"Pain overdoing," she said, starting toward the door, "and I'll send you up that medicine at once."

"Would you mind closing the door?" I asked faintly, adding in the best hypochondriac manner, "I feel as if I couldn't bear even hearing you talk over the telephone."

"Surely," she said indulgently, and although I couldn't see her eyebrows, I was sure they were raised. Then I caught silently to the camouflaged door leading to the other suite and knocked lightly. I knew that Katharine, while telephoning, could not hear me, and opened the door without waiting for the man Adams to answer my knock.

"Please get hold of my father at once," I said, "and tell him it is vitally necessary that he come over to the suite as soon as he possibly can. I think my husband is with him. If he is, tell him to come too.

"No, I am in no danger," I said as he was about to speak; "no one but a woman relative is in my apartment with me. But do get them here quickly, and close this door very softly after me."

I sped back, dived into my bed and closed my eyes just before Katharine opened the door and hurried to my bedside.

"They will send up the drug right away," she said. "And now, Madge, where can I get a nurse for you? You know that in any other circumstances I would not leave you, don't you? But although you are not seriously ill, you ought not to be alone here, and I simply cannot stay any longer than necessary. I must start my search for Jack as soon as possible."

"I don't want or need a nurse," I said with purposeful pettishness. "Dicky is scheduled to come back any minute. When he comes, it won't be necessary to have anyone else here. If you can stay until he gets here, that will be sufficient."

"Of course I'll do that," she answered, then her eyes flashed as we heard the outside door of the living room opening.

"There's Dicky now, I fancy," she said, and the next second we heard my husband's voice:

"Not here, Dad," he said, and a wave of relief went over me. Katharine's problem was now off my shoulders.

"Tell them I'm in here," I said in a low voice to Katharine, "and ask them to come in. But please stay with me too, for just a minute or two."

"I wonder," she said cryptically, but she went to the door and spoke to my father and Dicky.

"Madge is in here," she said. "She's not ill, but she had a dizzy spell."

Explains It All

Both men uttered the name "Katharine!" in tones that spelled great astonishment, but at once rushed to the bedroom. But I had risen before their entrance, and springing to Katharine's side I put my arms tightly around her.

"Forgive me, Katrina," I pleaded, "I had to do this. Please don't speak until I finish."

She stood rigidly so silent that I knew I had grievously offended her. But she did not tear herself away from my embrace, and I spoke swiftly and with emphasis.

"Katharine arrived a few minutes ago. She has a letter from Jack summoning her to his aid, but not giving her any address, the letter trailing off at the end incoherently.

"She believes Jack fell unconscious and was taken to some hospital, and she is determined to search the hospitals tonight, beginning at once.

"Although she says the letter is in Jack's handwriting, I have an intuition that it is a forgery, and is part of a plot to get hold of her. Therefore I pretended to be ill, and had you two come over here."

OPA Warns Against Illegal Rug Selling

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 9—The office of price administration has promised prompt action against rug manufacturers and distributors who "persist in the illegal practice" of selling odd-size rugs by combining regular sizes in a single uncut length to obtain higher prices.

OPA officials said yesterday that persons found guilty of such practices were subject to a maximum fine of $5,000, a year in jail or both.

A number of violations have been reported it was said, and "appropriate steps" are being taken.
